FOREIGN ELEMENT IS CHAFING UNDER DELAY

By Associated Press.

London, England, Jan. 29.—The relations of the United States with Great Britain in regard to the Panama Canal tolls, the controversy between Washington and Tokio over the California land ownership legislation and President Wilson's policy toward Mexico, are the subjects of lenghty dispatches today from British newspaper correspondents in Washington, but there is a singular lack of editorial comment on these subjects.

The Pall Mall Gazette is the only newspaper to mention Mexico editorially. It says: "President Wilson has laid himself open to the charge of having chalked up 'No Huerta' and then run away. It is a position that becomes worse for the prestage of the Washington government every day on which nothing happens."

Financiers who are interested in Mexico are becoming impatient at the lack of action shown by President Wilson. A meeting of the Mexico section of the London Chamber of Commerce is to be called shortly to discuss the replies to a circular letter recently sent out to its members asking their views "as to the advisability for Great Britain to join with France and Germany in asking President Wilson to take some steps to adjust the financial position of Mexico."

GOETHALS TO RULE PANAMA

By Associated Press.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 29.—Secretary Garrison announced today that Col. Geo. W. Goethals had signified his intention of accepting the governorship of the Panama Canal Zone to be offered him by the President.

Mr. Garrison intimated that Col. Goethals' acceptance was unqualified. "I am not able to give out the terms of Col. Goethals' acceptance at the present time," said Secretary Garrison, "but it was whole and complete. When President Wilson sends his name to the Senate, I shall probably be able to make an interesting statement."

By Associated Press.

S. Senatorial election earlier in the year. The men, who have been confined in the Webster county jail since their conviction, will be taken to the state penitentiary at Moundsville, at once to serve their sentence. They are Ben A. Smith, 5½ years; S. W. G. Rhodes, Mingo county; Rath Duff, Jackson county; Dr. H. A. Asbury, Putnam county, each 6 years, and David Hill, Mason county, 5 years. The court was unanimous in the refusal of the writ in the case of Senator Smith, but in the other four cases the vote was 3 to 2.

By Associated Press.

Peking, China, January 29.—A bill prescribing the worship of Heaven and Confucius by the President of the Chinese Republic, was passed today by the Administrative Council, which took the place of the Chinese Parliament, recently dissolved by President Yuan Shi-Kai. The measure was submitted to the council by the President himself.

It is understood that the President's idea is to set an example to the Chinese nation. The President will worship at the Temple of Confucius and at the Temple of Heaven annually in the same way as the Manchu Emperors did, but without wearing the diadem.

WE ARE SURPRISED

Washington, D. C., January 29.—As the Chinese provisional constitution which Yuan Shi-Kai has sworn to uphold in Section 7 of Article 6, says that "citizens shall have the freedom of religion," officials here were somewhat surprised at the action of the Chinese Administrative council.

By Associated Press.

Columbus, Ohio, Jan. 29.—A respite of 60 days was granted by Governor Cox today to Leslie Humphreys under sentence to be electrocuted at midnight tonight for the murder of Samuel E. Kelly, of Lenark, W. Va. Humphreys at one time confessed that he murdered Kelly and robbed his body of several hundred dollars which the latter had received from a recent sale of some property.

Later he repudiated the confession and insisted that the killing was the result of a drunken fight. Kelly had come to Columbus on an N. & W. train on which Humphreys was a brakeman and was killed in a lonely part of the railroad yards in this city.

By Associated Press.

Indianapolis, Ind., January 29.—The roll-call on the question to increase the president's salary to $4000 a year was completed today by the convention of the United Mine Workers of America, but the tellers said they would be unable to report until later in the day. The vote was very close, but some of the delegates who kept tally said the increase was voted down. Scenes almost equalling those of late yesterday when the convention was in a turmoil were enacted when the committee on constitution resumed its report. No important changes were made. The speech of Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor was made a special order of business for 2:30 o'clock this afternoon.

IN MEMORY OF M'KINLEY

It will culminate tonight in a banquet given by the McKinley club, where plates will be laid for 300. Major Charles R. Miller, of Cleveland, cousin of McKinley, will be toastmaster. Speakers for the occasion are Senator Burton, Nicholas Longworth, Congressman Willis, Attorney Harry Vail and former Representative Ralph D. Cole.

The members of the crew are still on board but are afraid they will have to risk jumping overboard into the high seas as the only chance of saving themselves. It is believed here that a steamer belonging to the United Fruit company is standing by, but is helpless in the storm.

VOTERS MAY DECIDE QUESTION OF ERECTING CITY BUILDING

According to one of the councilmen favoring the erection of a city building on the Market street lot, a resolution will probably soon be presented to council asking that a bond issue be authorized for the purpose of defraying the expenses of erecting a city building.

Whether a building costing more than $5,000 will be asked, is not known, but if the amount exceeds that allowed without a vote of the people being necessary, the question of issuing bonds will be put up to the voters of the city, it is claimed.

The movement for the erection of a new building was launched at a recent meeting of the city council, but no definite action was taken.

It is understood that if the question of issuing the bonds is submitted to the voters, it will not be done before the next primary election.

It is claimed by those favoring a new city building that a municipal prison must be established in the near future, owing to the recent action of the county commissioners, and that a building containing offices for the various city officials, including council chambers, mayor's office, with the addition of a municipal prison for all city prisoners, could be erected at no great cost.

The question of erecting a new municipal building has been taken up and discussed at various times during the past few years, and at one time plans for a building costing upward of $40,000 were considered.

ARGENTINA CORN EXHIBITED HERE

A sample of corn from the Argentine Republic is on exhibition at the Washington Savings bank, and is attracting quite a little attention among local citizens.

The grains of the corn are about one-half the size of Fayette county corn, and resemble the grains on the small end of the average ear of corn.

The samples come from E. F. Newing, importer and exporter, of Galveston, and the wholesale price at Galveston is 63c per bushel.

The corn is very flinty, and is said to test 12 per cent less moisture than the average American grown corn, and to contain more oil.

Vast amounts of the corn are being shipped to this country, where a great shortage in the crop resulted last year.

NUMBER OF DECISIONS NOW ESTIMATED AT FULLY 500

Twenty Additional Converts in This City Last Night and Meetings Are Now Attracting Deepest Interest of Any Time During Campaign—Number of Converts Expected to Reach 1500 Before Campaign Closes.

(By Hugh C. Weir.)

Five hundred conversions and church additions. This is the estimated total of the Simultaneous Campaign to date, counting both city and county churches.

That it will reach fifteen hundred before the end of the campaign is the conviction of Secretary Zaner. Last night twenty conversions were recorded in local churches, making a total of fifty for the first two evenings of the week's services in local churches.

Today for the first time in the campaign the noon-day service at the Palace theater was made into an evangelistic meeting, and it is believed that this feature will prove a decided stimulus to the campaign.

Mrs. John Thomas met the girls of the High school class at Grace M. E. church at three o'clock this afternoon for a special service.

SERVICES OF LAST NIGHT.

One of the most stirring services of the campaign, with the largest single number of confessions to date at the Grace M. E. church, was held last night. The interest in reaching a really remarkable point at that church, and even greater results are expected during the week. Mr. Ross gave a gripping sermon on "The Waiting Guest", and Mr. and Mrs. Thomas led a splendid song program. During the evening, Mr. Thomas sang with telling effect the famous Sparrow Song.

AT THE BAPTIST CHURCH.

There was a large audience at the Baptist church again last night. Miss Sheen led the music in her vigorous and effective way. Mr. Brandt preached on the subject of "Repentance," dwelling on the fact that in the New Testament dispensation, God commands men to repent. He said that there are three things included in Scriptural repentence. We must first see ourselves the way we are in the sight of God. Then we ought to have feelings suitable to this enlightened vision. And finally the vision and feeling ought to produce action, and make us turn away from our sinful course of life.

Tomorrow night Mr. Brandt will preach on "The Responsibility for Neglecting so Great a Salvation".

AT THE CHRISTIAN CHURCH.

Another splendid service was held at the Christian church last night, with one of the features of the service a choir of ninety voices. The little church on the corner again was packed. A praise and thank offering for the remarkable results of the campaign preceded the regular service. Mrs. Bowman Hostetler contributed an appealing solo. Mr. Hostetler preached on the subject, "Conversion", telling the story of how Philip won the Eunich to Christ. "Any person who takes Christ into his life must of necessity feel the thrill of Christian joy, and go on his way with a new happiness," declared Mr. Hostetler.

A number of conversions were recorded at the end of the service, raising the total at this church to 99.

AT THE PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH.

Dr. Charles Shaw, wife and little daughter left for their home in Jamestown, N. Y., yesterday morning, a large crowd of friends attending them to the station. Last night Rev. W. B. Gage, occupied the pulpit, delivering a strong sermon on the subject of "Peace", emphasizing the spirit of rest and security that comes into the life that has accepted Christ. Services will be held each evening of the week as before.

STATE SUNDAY SCHOOL RALLY

All the counties of Central and Southern Ohio are expecting to send their Sunday school workers to Columbus on Thursday, February 5th to participate in the rally and the big meeting held in conjunction with the World's Sunday School Tour Party, which is conducting a campaign for the evangelization of Turkey and the other Moslem countries.

The program will open at 9:30 in the morning. Various subjects of interest to county, township and state will be taken up leading to the consideration of the World's Sunday School Association work in Moslem lands. This will be handled by Rev. S. M. Zwermer and Rev. S. R. Van Trowbridge, both of whom have had many years of service in the orient.

Marion Lawrance will also address the gathering.

Another topic which will be taken up will be the relation of church and Sunday school to the newspaper This with a view to bringing about a closer understanding between the press of Ohio and the church. T. T. Frankenberg, of the Ohio State Journal will discuss this topic.

Following the morning session there will be a luncheon at which all delegates and visitors are expected to get acquainted. The evening meeting, which will be open to the general public, will be held in the largest available church. C. W. Shinn, State General Secretary, has made this meeting the occasion for a gathering of all of his field workers in this section of the state. In addition to remarks by himself, the speakers representing the state will be Mrs. Phebe A. Curtiss, State Elementary Superintendent, M. G. Baily State Secondary Superintendent. E. F. Arras, State Adult Superintendent and Judge Alexander Boxwell, State Educational Superintendent.

He made a promise to Representative Warren J. Duffey of Lucas county that this would be done. Duffey wants the Lima state hospital set aside for the treatment of drug users. He says there are 8,000 such victims in the state.

HAUNTED HILL IN THIS COUNTY

Famous "Ghost" of "Cherry Hill," Northern Fayette County Forms Subject of a Story Contributed to The Dayton News' Ghost Story Contest—Weird Stories of the Haunted Hill Recalled Here

The following ghost story has been contributed by a writer from this county, to the ghost story contest now being conducted by the Dayton Daily News, and the narrative founded upon the folklore connected with "Cherry Hill" on the Selsor estate, some four miles north of Bloomingburg, will be of interest to local citizens:

THE HAUNTED HILL

A shadowy steed ridden by a man without a head is the strange apparation which for a great many years made "Cherry Hill" a source of constant dread to the wayfarer who was forced to pass the place after nightfall.

"Cherry Hill," or, as it is more familiarly known, the "Haunted Hill," is located along the roadside in northern Fayette county, Ohio, and in the early days, when Ohio was still in her primitive state, a large, clap-board-covered log tavern stood upon the hill where one of the darkest crimes in the history of those pioneer days is alleged to have been committed.

A wealthy landbuyer, so the story goes, stopped at the tavern for the night, and was never heard from again. His strange disappearance, coupled with the fact that his saddlebags were filled with gold, gave rise to the story that he had been murdered and his body dropped into one of the several old wells, the marks of which still scar the hillock.

Soon strange weired stories began to be whispered about, and persons whose veracity had never been questioned, told of passing the old tavern at night and beholding a headless horse ridden by a headless man, moving about the hill.

Others related blood-curdling tales of being pursued by the ghost of the hapless landbuyer. Soon the tavern was deserted. Then the entire countryside was thrilled with reports of how prominent residents, who were compelled to pass the hill under cover of darkness, beheld brilliant lights flashing through the chinks in the old tavern, making it stand out sharp against the darkness, while fearful groans emanated from the interior. None ever stopped to investigate, for the headless horseman made his appearance at more frequent intervals than ever, frightening the country folk until all were atingle with excitement and dread.

One fellow, more brave than some of his neighbors, determined to go to the haunted hill and defy the ghost. It was a dark, foggy, dismal night and he stood the test until the apparition approached him and the horse, with its gruesome rider, walked directly through the solid fence and approached him. With a cry of horror he put spur to his horse and fled at break-neck speed.

Years passed and the deserted tavern gradually crumbled away until the foundation stones and a few brick remained, but the ghostly air hung over the haunted hill and it was a place shunned by all.

A few years ago, when the ghost made its last appearance, it suddenly loomed up before the startled eyes of an old colored man who was returning home late at night. The man's horse became frightened and, dashing the buggy to pieces, ran home, leaving the frightened man by the roadside. His story of how the headless horseman suddenly appeared before him until his teeth chattered and his hair stood on end, startled the neighborhood, but since that time the headless horseman and his headless steed have never shown themselves, and the little hill with its depressions, which mark the location of the old wells, stands out peacefully amid the fertile fields of the quiet countryside, with hardly a hint of the wierd tales associated with it.

TREATIES ARE NOW IN ORDER

Discussion Indicates An Early Report to the Senate.

FAVORABLE ACTION PROBABLE

Arbitration Pacts With Great Britain, Japan, Italy and Portugal Likely To Be Reported In the Form They Were Drawn Up by the State Department—Canal Tolls Question the Next to Receive Consideration.

Washington, Jan. 29.—The senate foreign relations committee called up the pending arbitration treaties with Great Britain, Japan, Italy and Portugal. A discussfon of the treaties indicated an early report on them in practically the form in which they have been sent to the senate by the state department. Favorable action on the arbitration treaties is expected to follow in the senate within a few days.

With the arbitration treaties disposed of the administration will direct its attention to the Panama canal tolls question. The president already has indicated to members of the foreign relations committee that he is against the granting of free tolls to American coastwise ships, and believes some legislative action ought to be taken which will remove Great Britain's ground of complaint that the Pan-American canal act constitutes a violation of the Hay-Pauncefote treaty.

The differences which have developed between the United States and Great Britain over the Panama canal tolls question, the feeling against the United States in Russia because of the abrogation of the commercial treaty; the failure of the senate to act on arbitration treaties negotiated by nations of the first class in the best of faith, and the issue with Japan over the California alien land laws have developed a situation which is likely to hamper the United States in its efforts to solve the difficulties in Mexico.

All of these matters are giving the administration considerable concern at this time, not because of any single issue involved, but because of the peculiarly isolated position in which the United States would find itself in the event of serious trouble being precipitated by any nation.

MARINES RESTORE QUIET IN HAITI

Washington, Jan. 29. — The situation in Haiti is chaotic and is likely to lead to the setting up of a revolutionist government in opposition to to the declaration of President Wilson in favor of "constitutional government." This was indicated in dispatches received in Washington. Reports of the abdication of President Orestes and his seeking refuge on the German cruiser Vineta as soon as fighting began in Port-Au-Prince were confirmed in dispatches to the state department. There is now no government in Haiti, though the local authorities with the assistance of the American and German marines are restoring order.

Senator Theodore, leader of the revolution, is reported about to proceed to Port-Au-Prince, presumably to make an effort to secure his own installation into the presidency of the republic.

The New School Bill

The House of Representatives on Wednesday afternoon, by a vote of eighty-eight to twenty-seven, passed the Lowry bill, generally known as the "School Survey bill", and by so doing carried out the recommendations made months ago by the Survey Commission appointed by Governor Cox.

The provisions of the bill as passed by the House do not affect city schools. It is the aim to better conditions in the rural schools of the state, to give to the pupils of the rural schools advantages in the way of education, especially in the common branches, which it is not possible to give them under the present system.

Beginning several years ago and growing steadily in strength all the time, there has been an agitation in favor of better facilities in the rural schools, better opportunity for the children of the rural districts.

It has been generally conceded as a fact that the rural schools had not kept pace with the progress made by the schools of the city districts.

That condition was largely attributed, by people, who gave the subject thought, to the fact that the rural communities had outgrown the present system and that before better facilities for educating the youth of the rural districts could be obtained the whole system for maintaining and conducting the schools must be changed.

Heeding this demand which had grown to such proportions that it could not longer be ignored the governor last winter appointed a commission to make a thorough investigation of the subject, report the result of that investigation and make such recommendations, in the way of change, in the present plan which the members, as experts believed would better conditions.

The present bill passed Wednesday by the house is the recommendation of the commission and it is expected to revolutionize the country school system. Supervision and centralization are the most important features.

Here in prosperous Fayette county, the need of a change was not so pressing as it was in the majority of the counties in the state and where the need of change is not so imperative, it follows that the change in system will not be so marked.

In the counties containing but few good roads and but little high class farming land the demand that something be done to better conditions and provide better educational facilities was insistent and deserving of the attention of both the legislative and executive branches of the state government.

Naturally enough the bill is met with opposition and the recommendations of the commission were met with decided opposition also. Every marked change in existing conditions always is opposed, if it is designed and intended to be effective.

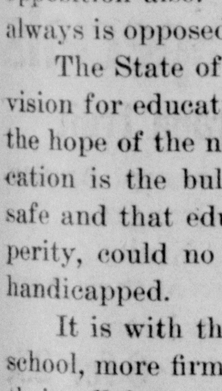

The State of Ohio, always in the forefront in making provision for educating the growing boys and girls, realizing that the hope of the nation rests in an enlightened people, that education is the bulwark behind which our free institutions are safe and that educational facilities must keep pace with prosperity, could no longer permit the great rural schools to be handicapped.

It is with the intent of broadening the scope of the rural school, more firmly securing them to the people and increasing their efficiency that the Lowry bill was passed and the line which separated the advocates of the measure from its opponents, both in and out of the house, was in no sense a political line.

Much of good is claimed for the plan proposed in the new bill and in a great section of the state there is much room for improvement.

Obsolete Vessels Should Make Way For Four Battleship Program; Nation Should Prepare

By Admiral GEORGE DEWEY, Hero of Manila Bay

© by Waldon Fawcett.

I SEE no signs of war in the future. I trust there will be no more wars. I do feel, however, that THIS NATION SHOULD NOT BE OFF ITS GUARD. You can say for me that my views of peace and the future of the navy are expressed in the few words of General Keifer, who represented Ohio in congress, "In time of peace prepare to maintain it."

THAT IS THE WAY I FEEL ABOUT THE NAVY, AND, WHILE I HOPE AND BELIEVE THERE WILL BE NO MORE WARS, IT SEEMS TO ME THAT IT IS WELL FOR THIS NATION TO HAVE A FOUR BATTLESHIP PROGRAM TO REPLACE OBSOLETE VESSELS AND TO PREPARE TO MAINTAIN PEACE.

Poetry For Today

THE LOST TRAIL.

Green woodland pity heals the ancient scar;
Spring after spring, through still unresting years,
In little saplings and the tufted pine,
The old trail disappears.

Forbidden pine and fern-brake come once more;
Brown leaves have hid the secret deep and well;
Only the scattered blaze-marks, blurred and dim,
A fading message tell.

One coming here might seek for it in vain;
There is no sign above the guarded gate
To point the path, to where the still wood keeps
Its heart inviolate.

The old path fades, forgotten; only guessed,
And scarcely found and once more lost again.
No record serves to show the long-healed wound
Of havoc and of pain.

God send all trails forgetfulness as this!
Such healing pity of the kindly years,
That no swift-footed memory may find
Lost places of old tears!

—Arthur Ketchum in Atlantic Monthly.

J. N., the wandering philosopher, was fined in Eupala, Ala., the other day for drunkenness. Having for once failed to lift the veil and remove the pressure, he passed from the court room grandly, muttering: "O Justice! thou art fled to the frutish beasts!" and repaired to other rooms to fill up again.

We want wood—Those of our subscribers who promised to bring us wood in payment of subscription, will please bring it immediately.

All our folks being on the sick list last Saturday, we had no one to get us "wittls" and were compelled to go to Burk's Dining Saloon for provender for the inner man and we must confess we were highly delighted with the variety and style of the meal there served up. Roast beef, cold beef, fish, potatoes, hominy corn bread, pie, etc, cooked in a style that would have done credit to Delimonico's Restaurant, or any fashionable eating saloon, served by active and polite waiters. We cannot but recommend our readers who want a good square meal to give Burk a call.

NEWSY NOTES

(By John E. M. Kerr.)

The plans and specifications of the new Piqua postoffice have been received by Postmaster Prince. The building, to cost about $175,000, is to be 100 feet by 125 feet square, two stories and a basement.

After lawing ten years through different courts, the city of Greenville, Ohio, has at last succeeded in getting permission to extend a street across the right of way of the C. C. & St. L. railway. Council passed the ordinance opening the street, but the railroad blocked the work on the thoroughfare on the plea that the work interfered with the reasonable use of the property of the company. The court has now held differently.

Because of the fact that gambling and drinking of intoxicating liquors were permitted at some of the Ohio County Fairs last summer, the Agricultural Commission resolved that in the future no state aid amounting to $2,300 to each county fair, be given where such was permitted the preceding year. This applies to intoxicating liquors, to pooling or individual gambling on horse racing, the cane ring, contests of all kinds, into which the element of chance enters.

After drinking vinegar high balls, George Schmidt, of Clermont county, began seeing things. After robbing a grocery of oysters, crackers, etc., a saloon of liquors and cigars, and a country postoffice of a quantity of stamps, bloodhounds were placed on the trail. Running down Schmidt, who was enjoying his loot, the fellow denied all knowledge of his actions and claimed the vinegar high balls should be held responsible for his wrong doings.

A petition 30 feet long praying that the stone and other material contained in the present Court House of Hamilton County, be transported to the Carthage Fair grounds and used in erecting a stately agricultural hall and assembly building. The Court House is soon to be taken down and the Commissioners are now trying to decide on a practicable disposition of the old building.

MAY RAISE EMBARGO

Washington, Jan. 29.—Informal inquiry among prominent administration officials disclosed the fact that practically the entire cabinet, many members of the senate foreign relations committee and many of the leaders in congress generally are ready to support the president should he raise the embargo on shipment of arms into Mexico. The chief argument being placed before President Wilson now is that the Huerta government has experienced little difficulty in buying munitions of war in countries other than the United States, while the Constitutionalists have been cut off from their only external source of supply—the American border—and that in this respect the American policy is one of partiality instead of neutrality.

YOUTHS SENTENCED FOR STEALING ROBE AND WHIP

Orville Stuckey and Roy Church, the two young men who were arrested Wednesday afternoon for the theft of a robe belonging to C. A. Kelley, were arraigned before Mayor Coffey Wednesday evening about 8 o'clock, to plead to an affidavit filed by Mr. Kelley charging them with petit larceny.

Both of the boys entered pleas of guilty to the charge, although each accused the other of being the one responsible for the theft and subsequent sale of the robe.

They were taken back to the county jail and Thursday morning Mayor Coffey sentenced Stuckey to a long term in the Xenia work house, and gave Church ten days in the county jail. Stuckey will be taken to the work house at once.

The pair admitted taking the robe from the rig of the owner while the rig was in front of the residence of Mrs. Seeks in Bloomingburg. They secured a whip at the same time, and when they arrived in this city and disposed of the robe they were accused of having stolen it, and admitted the theft. The robe was turned over to the police and the owner found.

When he arrived in the city Wednesday night, Mr. Kelley had no difficulty in identifying the robe and whip.

Stuckey has served time in the Boys' Industrial School at Lancaster, and has been in trouble time after time. A few days ago he was under arrest for obtaining goods under false pretense. Since that time he has committed a similar offense, it is claimed, and there are other charges which are said to be made against him.

The evidence clearly indicated that he was the prime mover in the robe stealing. Young Church has not been in trouble in this city before, he claims, and his story of the affair was evidently the correct one of the two.

W. C. T. U. CONDEMNS IMMODEST DRESS

The women of the Sugar Grove Women's Christian Temperance union have gone on record as being unalterably opposed to the present modes in women's wearing apparel, and have adopted a resolution to that effect.

The resolution is as follows:

"We, the ladies of the Sugar Grove W. C. T. U., in session this, the 28th day of January, 1914, do hereby submit the following resolution:

"Resolved—That we condemn the present immodest mode of dress, worn by many women of today, and desire to use our influence against the same.

Resolutions Committee."

It is claimed that this resolution was unanimously adopted. The affair occasioned no little discussion among the members after its passage, and will be discussed with interest by large numbers of women.

It is expected that other unions will follow the example set by the Sugar Grove Union.

The resolution was passed at a very interesting monthly meeting held at the home of Mrs. F. E. Haines Miss Ivah Haines assisting hostess. The subject was "Sabbath Observance," Mrs. Harry King in charge.

Four excellent papers were presented by Mrs. Tasso Post, Mrs. Delcia Elliott, Mrs. Frank Haines, Mrs. Laura Pine.

The Physical Culture exercises closed the session, which was followed by delicious refreshments.

RIGHTS OF PRESS ARE MADE PLAIN

The fact that a newspaper has a property right in news relating to the actions of public officials, was carried in a decision handed down in Chillicothe Wednesday, by Judge Goldsberry, in the Common Pleas court of that city.

Judge Goldsberry made permanent a temporary restraining order in the case of the Scioto Gazette company, a corporation, against Robt. D. Alexander, auditor of Ross county, enjoining the defendant from preventing employes of the plaintiff from being present at the meetings of the county commissioners. The case has been in the courts for nearly three years.

Judge Goldsberry held that if it appears that a public official interfers, or threatens to interfere with reporters in their efforts to obtain in a lawful manner, news relating to the actions of public officials, such interference, and any attempts at intimidation, can be enjoined, if it is shown that the paper would suffer material loss in subscribers by its inability to secure such news.

UNUSUAL CASE IN COMMON PLEAS COURT

Judge Carpenter, who is presiding in the Common Pleas court at Circleville, had an unusual case Wednesday. It was the State of Ohio vs. Harry Ruckman, charged with criminal actions toward his step-daughter.

The prosecuting witness broke down and sobbed, and the defendant expressed his willingness to plead guilty to the ugly charge against him The case was brought to an abrupt end, and Judge Carpenter discharged the jury and witnesses, but deferred sentence for the time being.

FALLS FROM HORSE PAINFULLY INJURED

Thursday morning while riding a horse near the B. & O. depot, Ralph Moore, aged 15, of Millwood, fell from the animal and struck his head upon a sharp stone, inflicting a very ugly cut in the back of his head.

Mr. H. A. Anderson, of the Hagerty Shoe Company, was passing at the time and assisted the youth to a physician's office, where the wound, some two inches in length, was dressed.

The lad lost considerable blood before the gaping wound was closed. Fortunately the skull was not fractured, and the lad will soon recover.

XENIA HAS NEW CHIEF OF POLICE

James Canaday is now Xenia's Chief of Police, succeeding Chief E. M. Smith, who has served at the head of the police force in Xenia for many years.

Failure to qualify for continuance in the service is given as the reason for the suspension. Mayor Dodds issued the notice to Chief Smith about noon Wednesday.

The new chief has been a patrolman on the force for several years, and is well qualified for his new position.

PARTIAL PLANS ARE MADE PUBLIC

Many railroad men see in the announcement made by the C. & O. railroad of its intention to build a trunk road to Jackson, the ultimate ownership of the D. T. & I. by the C. & O. This has been rumored for sometime.

According to the Cincinnati Enquirer it is now definitely known that the C. & O. will bridge the Ohio river near Ironton, and when the trunk road is built to Jackson, direct connection with the D. T. & I. will be possible, and some difficult road on the D. T. & I. will be eliminated.

Other railroad men state that the C. & O. will connect with the Hocking Valley at Jackson and turn its great volume of coal over that road, which it is said to own.

Still others say a large amount of the coal will be shipped over the C. H. & D. from Wellston, so that in two out of the three alternatives, the coal will pass through this city.

MILL ONCE MORE CHANGES HANDS

The New Holland flour mill and coal business connected with it, which has been conducted by E. R. Burton and Son, has changed hands, A. H. Vanriper, of Shaftsburg, Mich., making the purchase.

The new owner will take charge of the mill within the next few days. The Burtons have not decided what they will take up.

MEMOIR.

Effie Waddel, daughter of James and Annie Waddel, was born near Rainsboro, Highland county, on the 22nd day of March, 1844. She was one of a family of 12 children of whom 8 have crossed to eternity with their parents.

Her childhood days were spent at the old home and with the exception of the last ten years she had her own home near that place.

On June the 2nd, 1880, she was united in marriage to Daniel C. McCallister. One daughter, Daisy E., was born to this union.

This daughter and husband together with the brother at the old home place, one in Bainbridge and a sister in Kansas mourn the departure of a beloved wife, mother and sister. May the days bring to them the feeling that when God called this loved one home it was not to give them pain or sorrow, nor even an earthly loss, but He, in his Divine Fatherhood, was only desirous of laying up treasures in Heaven for His children. May they realize that the day of her death, January 19, 1914, was also the day of her heavenly birth.

To the sorrowing neighbors and friends, for she had many who loved and esteemed her, we would say that in Heaven we shall know as we are known.

To be loved and praised by those who have been with us in all the moods and phases of life is a high tribute to our lives. When neighbors say, "she was a good woman", and husband and daughter in tones laden with love and sincerity say "there is nothing too good to be said of her," then the best epitaph has been worded and it is for us to turn to the Great Comforter and pray for grace to live as well as she lived and direct our every word, thought and act heavenward, where through Christ, our Savior, we may be united in one great family.

In Social Circles

Miss Margaret Brust and Mr. Theodore Crossen had a quiet and simply arranged home wedding at noon today, the wedding taking place at 12 o'clock at the residence of the bride's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Adam Wamser, of North Walnut street, with whom she has made her home for a number of years.

Rev. Corliss Hargraves, who officiated, awaited the couple in the parlor, and as they entered, Mrs. Fred Brust, presiding at the piano, played Mendelssohn's Wedding March, and during the ceremony the sweet strains of "Thine Own" formed an appropriate accompaniment to the softly spoken vows. Mrs. Brust again changed to the Mendelssohn March as congratulations were extended.

The bride wore an extremely becoming gown of white serge, trimmed with lace and finished with chiffon ruching.

After the nuptial ceremony a two-course wedding dinner was served. Pink and white carnations adorned the table, at which covers were placed for twelve, the guests including only the immediate members of the two families.

Mr. and Mrs. Crossen left on the 2:25 C. H. & D. train for Washington C. H., where they will remain a few days, while getting their home in order. They will live on a farm a mile from Wasnington, and after arranging their house, will return for a short stay with the bride's relatives before beginning housekeeping.

Mrs. Crossen wore on her departure a smart dark blue coat suit and a blue marquisette blouse made over Persian silk. A blue hat with ornamenting plume and other accessories to match completed her going-away attire.—Scoto Gazette, Chillicothe.

An exceptionally large number of Presbyterian Guild women, about 60, thoroughly enjoyed the fortnightly Kensington at the home of Mrs. Hibben Ervin, with Mesdames Emma Grove, Fred Sprenger, Harry Rankin, Fred Hamm, Jennie Bailey assisting hostesses.

An elegant collation was served.

Mrs. C. E. Lloyd charmingly entertained her Kensington club this afternoon.

Mrs. Ione Bryant catered, serving a delicious luncheon.

TO THE PUBLIC.

Noticing an ad. by a new implement firm of the Original Scotch Clipper breaking plow, I write you this to give you a little history of the Scotch Clipper: Years ago, with the first make of plows this county and other counties where the soil was similar, they had a great deal of trouble in the loose black soil with the plow shedding the soil. The Moline Plow Co., of Moline, Ill., first learned that it required two essential points to do this. First, the shape of the moleboard and second the material in the moleboard and share. By experience they found that Acme soft center steel put in the moleboard and share on the plow which they named Scotch Clipper, would shed the soil in any land in Fayette county, consequently their plow gained a good reputation.

Since then other manufactories have tried to get in on their trade by naming their plows Scotch Clipper. Remember, if you want the Original Scotch Clipper, it must be manufactured by the Moline Plow Co., Moline, Ill. I have handled this plow for the last 20 years, keep them in stock, and supplies for them, buying 100 shares at a time, thereby getting the best price, furnish you a new shares for $2.50, when other makes want you to wait a few days and pay express from factory. Do not forget that the Original Scotch Clipper is made of Acme Soft Center Steel; get the one made by Moline Plow Co., Moline, Ill., and sold by Chas. F. Bonham, West Court St., Washington C. H., Ohio. adv

DANIELS RINGS A NAVY SCHOOL BELL

Enlisted Men Not Well Grounded Must Attend Classes.

TO EXAMINE ALL SAILORS.

Points Out That Such Work Would Increase Efficiency of Jackies—Junior Officers From Naval Academy Will Act as Instructors—Will Aid Men at Expiration of Service.

Washington.—Secretary of the Navy Daniels has issued an order making it compulsory for all enlisted men of the navy who are not well grounded in the common school branches and have not yet completed two years' service in the navy to attend the service schools, which will be held aboard ship and at training stations and yards. Junior officers only recently out of the Naval academy will act as instructors. Instruction in reading, writing, arithmetic, spelling, geography and history will be continued until each man has attained a satisfactory standard.

Academic instruction will be limited to three-fourths of an hour each day and the remainder of the study period will be devoted to technical and naval subjects. Men who do not need the academic course will devote the whole period to other branches.

The routine aboard ship will be arranged so that the following general principle as regards the employment of the men may be followed as far as possible: All hands to, 9:15; cleaning and shipwork; 9:15 to 11:45, drills and routine duties; 11:45 to 1:15, dinner and recreation; 1:15 to 2:30, instruction and school daily except Saturdays, Sundays and holidays; 2:30 to 4:30, drill, work and recreation.

The instruction will be under the general direction of the commanding officer. The executive officer will have immediate charge, assisted by all commissioned officers and by such warrant and petty officers as may be necessary in the different apartments aboard ship.

Division officers are directed to examine all men under their supervision, noting the deficiencies of each man, the amount of instruction he may have received at the training station, the branches in which further instruction is most needed, the fitness of each man for promotion, the branch for which he is best suited and the personal preferences and ambitions of each in order that classes may be formed to secure progress and improvement in the mental and technical training of men in every branch of the navy service.

Whenever the weather or the circumstances of service of any particular ship or ships are such that additional times during the day may be given to instruction, commanding officers are urged to increase the periods of instruction and to encourage night classes when practicable.

Secretary Daniels points out that the idea which prevails in some quarters that this instruction will interfere with strictly man-of-war work appears to be groundless, inasmuch as more than three-fourths of the order is devoted to the consideration of strictly technical and naval instruction along lines that will tend directly to the increased efficiency of a man-of-war.

The Naval academy is to be the center for the preparation of handbooks to be used by beginners. Provision is made for the gradual supply of the necessary books needed in both the academic and professional branches of instruction. It is required that a complete record of each man's progress shall be permanently attached to his enlistment record and that he shall receive a certificate of proficiency at the completion of his term of service in the navy.

Secretary Daniels, by instituting this educational system, makes it possible for every young man in the navy—and of the whole enlisted personnel more than 30 per cent are young—to obtain commissions in the service or a professional training which will enable him to enter on even terms with civilians in professional life outside the navy.

The whole scheme follows the idea of Secretary Daniels that the navy should be a great school as well as a working institution.

SEA HEAVES UP WRECKAGE.

Timbers of Old Ship and Skeleton of Mastodon Come Ashore.

Santa Barbara, Cal.—For several days a submarine disturbance has kept the ocean along the south coast in fury, during which time the weather has been fine and the water comparatively calm several miles from the shore. At last the wreckage of an old ship was cast up.

A few miles southward part of a mastodon's skeleton, which apparently had been brought up from a great depth, was washed ashore. The skeleton fragments included about thirty-five feet of vertebrae, and the skull was eight feet, tusks intact.

The ship's wreckage bore indications that it had lain on the ocean's bottom for perhaps 100 years.

ARTIST LIVED TWO MONTHS IN WILDS

Starting Naked, Knowles Returned Fully Clad.

USED SKINS AS HIS RAIMENT

Had Lost Thirty Pounds, but Is Well. Lonesomeness of the Forest One of the Worst Features and Nearly Drove Him Mad—Had No Food and Lived on Animals He Killed and Berries.

Boston.—Joseph Knowles, the Boston artist, after a two months' fight for existence in the forests of Maine, is back in civilization.

Clad in rudely dressed skins of black bear and deer and carrying in a pack on his back a fire machine and other tools he had fashioned to aid him in living in a primitive way, Knowles looked like a cave man. Thus ended a test of hardihood and endurance, of skill in conquering a hostile environment.

On Aug. 4 Knowles plunged into the forests near Spencer lake, in Somerset county, Me. He was naked. He had no weapons, no tools or implements of any kind, no food. He promised to come out of the woods fully clad and in good health and physical condition. He has kept his promise in every detail.

He lost thirty pounds of weight in the two months, dropping from 204 pounds to 174. His appearance clearly told the tale of the hardships he has undergone. From head to heel he was scratched and bruised by the briars and underbrush in which he lived for sixty days. He is tanned almost black.

Over his neck and arms was a black bear skin, cleverly fastened with thongs of deerskin. His trousers were of deerskin, made Indian fashion, with the hair inside. His feet were incased in moccasins of buckskin, sewed with sinew. He wore no hat, no sleeves, no underwear.

On his back was a knapsack of woven bark. It was filled with trophies from the forest. Slung over his arm were his bows and arrows. Sheathed in buckskin a crude knife of horn hung from his belt.

"My food largely consisted of fish, deer meat, bear meat, spruce partridges and berries," said Knowles. I found blueberries in the burnt lands. I am feeling in fine condition. I do not believe every man can do what I have done, but I feel confident that a man with good health, a knowledge of the woods and resourcefulness can accomplish the same thing. I believe any one of the game wardens could do it. I have satisfied a curiosity.

"The hardest thing of all was the awful lonesomeness, because of which I came near coming out twice. The isolation almost drove me crazy. Several times I have heard voices afar off and that made it only the harder.

"The eating question is nothing; neither is the dress. I have not suffered any to speak of from the cold. It was that awful lonesomeness.

"For the last ten days I did little. Up to that time I constantly aspired to accomplish something, but my ambition left me. During the last ten days I believe I gained ten pounds because of this.

"On my trip up to Canada I simply used the moss on the north side of the trees to guide me. I started on this march to Canada the day after I waved the torch on the shore of King and Bartlett lake. When I got out I was not sure whether it was Saturday or Sunday. It was a pretty rough country, but my trip was largely down hill all the way.

"I came through the deepest forest because I did not dare to strike the roads, for fear of being seen before time. Then from up in the mountains I heard a wonderful thing. I heard the whistle of a train. I pressed toward it and finally came on the railroad tracks."

When questioned about salt, he said he missed it very much for the first few weeks, but after that he never thought about it. When asked what he would have to eat he ordered fried salt pork and potatoes.

VREELAND WANTS STRONGER FLEET

Appears Before Naval Committee As Substitute For Dewey.

ISLANDS AT MERCY OF FOES

Rear Admiral Sees Mikado's Troops In the Philippines, Hawaii and Alaska, In the Event of War With Japan—Believes Uncle Sam Ultimately Would Win Because of Superior Financial Resources.

Washington, Jan. 29.—Rear Admiral C. E. Vreeland of the general board of the navy startled members of the house committee on naval affairs when he declared that in case of hostilities with Japan it would be comparatively easy for the far eastern power to take the Philippines and possibly land its troops in the territories of Hawaii and Alaska.

Vreeland, who is one of the strategists of the navy department, made it plain that in his opinion Japan would be able to make great progress in the early stages of a conflict with the United States, but that ultimately this country would win through its superior financial resources. Coming on the heels of the announcement that the administration is seriously concerned over the apparent friendliness of Japan to the Huerta government in Mexico, the testimony of Admiral Vreeland was received by house members with intense interest.

Vreeland appeared as a substitute before the committee for Admiral Dewey, who was unable to be present because of illness. He emphasized the necessity for a stronger fleet, declaring that the naval estimate in preparing strategic plans for the Pacific was proceeding on the theory that Japan, in the event of trouble, would occupy the Philippines and possibly land forces in Hawaii and Alaska. All preparations, he asserted, would have to be based on the theory that Japan would strike without notice. Japan, according to Admiral Vreeland, has vastly increased its appropriations for armament.

Rear Admiral Vreeland went into a general discussion of the condition of the navy. He said that if the United States halted its building program, the American navy would soon fall behind that of Japan in strength.

STEWART RECALLED BY GRAND JURY

New York, Jan. 29.—James C. Stewart is before the grand jury today and is being questioned again concerning the atetmpt to get $150,000 from him while his company's bids for barge canal work were before the canal board. Since his appearance two weeks ago, District Attorney William Whitman has received information that will materially assist him in questioning the contractor. Stewart is said to have gone to Charles F. Murphy after a man named Gaffney tried to get a campaign contribution from him.

When Charles F. Murphy, the Tammany leader, was asked to comment on Stewart's appearance before the grand jury and the likelihood that he would correct his previous testimony, he said: "I shall not discuss any phase of the graft investigations until I am put on the stand under oath." He added he had not yet been subpenaed.

VILLA SPURNS THE PRESIDENCY

Juarez, Mexico, Jan. 29.—General Villa in discussing the Mexican situation declared he would not accept the presidency if elected; that he is fighting for Carranza and for the principles Carranza represents, and that if Carranza is made president he will be satisfied.

One of General Villa's reasons for coming to Juarez at this time is to urge the Chihuahua bankers who are now in El Paso to return to Chihuahua and reopen their banks. Most of the banks closed when Villa took Chihuahua and the bankers came to El Paso. Villa is said to have threatened the bankers with confiscation of all their property unless they returned and reopened their banking houses.

Two trainloads of rebel troops left Chihuahua for Jiminez, where the Constitutionalists are concentrated for the attack on Torreon. General Maclovio Herrera is in command at Jiminez, while General Tribio Ortega is superintending the movement of troops from Chihuahua to the concentration point.

Forty-eight members of the Terrazas family, including the wife of the aged general, Luis Terrazas, Sr., now a refugee in El Paso, arrived in Juarez. Luis Terrazas, son of the multimillionaire, is still held a prisoner in Chihuahua by the rebels, where he is held for a ransom of 500,000 pesos.

RECEIVER NAMED FOR CENTRAL UNION

Local officials of the Central Union Telephone company were informed this week that the application made recently by certain minority stockholders for a receivership for the company in the Federal courts at Chicago had been granted and three receivers appointed. While the names of these men were not given out, one of them is a prominent Missourian, another a Chicago banker, and the third a New York City man.

What effect the receivership will have on the present system of management remains to be seen but local officers say it will probably mean a radical change in "system." Real work that might benefit the company they claim, is hampered by the multiplicity of orders and directions which are sent out from the district offices and since the receivers will undoubtedly try to cut down expenses, some of this will be elmiminated. —Chillicothe News.

VIEWS OF OTHERS

SERVING THE PEOPLE.

Having demonstrated that the parcel post can be operated successfully Postmaster General Burleson is figuring on increasing the service. With the beginning of the year he increased the limit of packages from twenty to fifty pounds, and now he proposes to raise the weight to 100 pounds.

The plan will enable producers to ship their products to market at a minimum cost for transportation charges instead of a maximum as was exacted by the express trust, when it held the country in its grasp.

Consumers can save money by patronizing the parcel post and buying direct from the producer, whether the article is grown on the farm or produced in a manufacturing plant. In a short time the producers will find that they can, by judicious advertising, reach the persons who will buy their products and eliminate the profits and tolls taken out by the middlemen.

As a rule, more than one "middleman" takes his percentage out of articles of daily consumption. The commission merchant deducts his commission for handling the product. Next the retailer and then the huckster come in for shares in the profit.

If advantage is taken of the parcel post all these added expenses, as well as the lowering in the cost of transportation, may be saved. The problem to be solved is the bringing of producer and consumer into direct contact, and this can be done thru the medium of advertising.—Woman's National Weekly.

LITTLE STORIES ABOUT OHIO

By Charles E. Chidester

CONNECTICUT ONCE OWNED OHIO

Ohio was once the property of Connecticut.

Before states began taking form west of the seaboard, Connecticut claimed strips of land her own width from her western boundry line to the Pacific coast.

In 1781, she ceded to the Union all of her charter rights to the strip with the exception of approximately 3,667,000 acres, extending 120 miles from the western boundry line of Pennsylvania, and bounded on the north by Lake Erie and on the south by the 41st degree, north latitude, which she reserved as a foundation for her school fund. From that act dated the existence of w... is now known as the great Western Reserve, the name of which is perpetuated in a great university at Cleveland, public and private institutions of various kinds in northeastern Ohio.

Five years after the cession of the strip by Connecticut the national congress accepted it, and 14 years later the president was authorized to deed to Connectiuct, the land included in the Western Reserve, on condition that Connecticut relinquish all claim to jurisdiction. In 1803 when Ohio became a state, Connecticut's vague title vanquished entirely.

One of the most interesting sections of the Western Reserve was a tract of 500,000 acres comprising the present counties of Erie, Huron and Otawa, known as the "fire lands," so called because given by Connecticut to sufferers from fire during the invasion of the mother state during the war of the Revolution.

The first lands in the Western Reserve offered for sale by the general government sold at $2 an acre. Now this same land is thickly sprinkled with cities, among which is Cleveland towns, vilages and the homes of wealthy farmers. The tract had not been long opened to settlers when the price of land rose to $5 an acre. Money was so scarce that great economy was necessary to raise sufficient to pay taxes. All purchases were made with produce. Material for shirts now purchased made up by Western Reserve farmers for 50 cents, sold at 62 cents a yard. Sugar retailed at 30 cents a pound.

LEE IS SEATED

Washington, Jan. 29.—The Republicans lost one vote and the Democrats gained one when the senate, by a vote of 53 to 13, adopted a resolution seating Blair Lee, Democrat, as senator from Maryland, to succeed William P. Jackson, Republican. Mr. Lee was immediately sworn in. The 13 senators who voted against seating Mr. Lee were all Republicans. More than half of the Republicans voted in favor of seating him. Most of the progressive Republicans voted for him and some of the conservaties, like McCumber and Warren.

TAMMANY CHIEF MAY BE DEPOSED

New York, Jan. 29.—The National Democratic club, of which Charles F. Murphy and many other Tammany Democrats are members, is openly working to remove Mr. Murphy from the leadership of Tammany Hall, to oust from him the control of the state committee and to secure amendments to the new primary law which will give free expression to party wishes and prevent machine control. The primary amendments are to be discussed at the clubhouse tonight by a committee appointed Dec. 13 last by the president, Judge Edward Lawyer. On that committee of 25 men are Senator James A. O'Gorman, William B. Ellison, Martin W. Littleton, Herman Ridder, James J. Martin, National Chairman William F. Mc-Combs and others who are believed to feel that Murphy should be deposed. This group is distinct from the indepedents headed by Collector Dudley Field Malone and a committee of 250. It is working only through the National Democratic club.

TWO BIG BILLS PUT THROUGH

House Favors School Supervision, Senate the Coal Act.

NO MATERIAL CHANGES MADE

Six Senators Recorded Against the Anti-Screen Measure, While the School Proposition Passes by a Decisive Vote—County Salary Bill and Hog Cholera Resolution Also Get By—Legislative News.

Columbus, O., Jan. 29.—Favorable action was had on two important administration measures. The Green anti-screen bill passed the senate and the rural school supervision bill passed the house. Neither suffered any material changes through amendment.

Only six senators cast their votes against the measure providing for the weighing of coal before it has passed over the screens.

Senators Jung and Broadstone were the only ones to speak against passage. Both declared the act to be an abridgment of the right to make contracts in that it to k away from the operator and the miner the right to contract as to the basis of payment for mining.

Senator Green likened the opposition of operators to the measure to that of many bankers against the new federal currency measure. Their opposition will melt away, he said, after the bill becomes a law.

In charge of Representative Oliver J. Thatcher of Clinton, Republican member of the state school survey commission, the Lowry rural school supervision bill, chief item in the administration school program, ran the gauntlet of the house in five hours' time. It was passed by 88 to 27, six Democrats and 21 Republicans being recorded against it.

Mr. Anderson of Greene, who had championed the farmers' demand for a live stock exhibit at the San Francisco exposition, led the opposition. The crucial amendment he offered to cut out provision for a county superintendent, was lost by 31 to 80. That provision was attacked as meaning a double-headed supervision, that of the county superintendent and that of district superintendents.

Amendments Adopted.

Amendments were adopted by McGuffey of Hardin, that any superintendent who acts as agent for a book company or educational publication or is interested in a school outside state control shall be discharged; by Mr. Hite of Perry, requiring four-fifth vote of a county board to change the boundaries of a district; by Mr. Cowan of Putnam, making the maximum of teachers in a district 70 instead of 60; by Mr. Barthelmeh of Tuscarawas, for continuation as a separate district for supervision purposes of a union of village or rural districts if they employ a superintendent giving half his time instead of two-thirds time, to supervision.

The bill makes county districts outside cities and villages of over 3,000 population, while township and special districts continue as rural districts. Rural district boards of five members are elected for four years, county boards of five members for five years are elected by the presidents of the village and rural boards. The county board establishes supervision districts, to be under superintendents to be elected by the presidents of the village and rural boards for three years, minimum salary $1,000, half to be paid by the state up to $750. The county board appoints the county superintendent for three years, minimum salary $1,200, half to be paid by the state up to $1,000.

Reported For Passage.

The Morris teachers' certificate bill and the Ruhlman weak district bill were reported to the house calendar for passage. A bill to create county uniformity in schoolbooks, by having the presidents of village and rural boards act as a textbook commission, but forbidding change of books oftener than once in five years, was introduced by Representative Woodworth of Athens.

Amended to make uniform in all counties the county portion of salaries, the Duffey common pleas judge salary bill was passed by the house. The bill makes the maximum salary $6,000, of which the state pays $3,000. The counties pay $25 for each 1,000 of population. Judges assigned to courts outside their residence county get $10 a day in addition.

The Cunningham resolution, asking congressional aid to fight hog cholera, and the Carroll resolution, asking congress to pass the Hamill bill to retire aged letter carriers and postal clerks, were adopted by the house.

Governor Cox will send a special message, asking reduction in automobile fees and that they be based on horsepower. Mr. Warnes of Holmes will put in the bill, changing the schedule, which is $6 to $18, to $5 to $10.

ASKS $25,000,000 FOR BETTER ROADS

Secretary of Agriculture Would Apportion the Funds.

Washington.—Chairman Moon of the house committee on postoffices and post roads asked the rules committee to bring in a special rule incorporating an item of $25,000,000 for roads in the annual appropriation bill. Mr. Moon proposed this new "pork barrel" as a sop to some members of the house who have decided to fight the postoffice bill rider which would take 2,400 assistant postmasters out of the civil service.

A subcommittee was appointed by the rules committee to decide what action should be taken on this new scheme to appropriate money. If the rules committee brings the rule in the section cannot be ousted on a point of order, as it would be if not protected by a special rule.

The Moon bill provides that $25,000,000 shall be taken from the treasury annually and placed at the disposal of the secretary of agriculture, who shall apportion it among the states according to population and miles of rural post roads. The bill was prepared by Representative Dorsey W. Shackleford of Missouri, chairman of the new committee on good roads.

CONGRESSMAN MOON.

GEOGRAPHY UP TO DATE.

Map of the World Shows Where They Don't Tango.

Paris.—An enterprising publisher has issued a map of the world which plainly indicates where the tango is danced and where it is prohibited by the clergy, where it is debarred by royalty and where it is frowned upon by officialdom.

Austria is apparently the heaven of the tango, as are also the states of Texas and Wyoming. Paris, on the other hand, according to the chart, is the deadly enemy of the tango.

If this is so it is difficult to notice it.

BUGGY IN USE NINETY YEARS.

Body of Sturdy Old Vehicle of Oak and Wheels of Hickory.

Lancaster, Kan.—W. M. Morgan of this village is the possessor of a buggy, or light wagon, which is ninety years old. It was brought to Kansas from Vermont by M. J. Cloyes of Atchison when a young man. Mr. Cloyes is now eighty-seven years of age and bought the buggy secondhand when he commenced farming in the New England states. When Mr. Cloyes quit farming in this community a number of years ago he sold the buggy to Morgan at public auction.

The present owner uses the buggy frequently, as it is still in good condition, although considerably antiquated in style. A peculiar feature of the rig is that the springs are fastened lengthwise to either side of the body

Nearly all of those manufactured to-day have the springs across the end. The wood used in the body of the vehicle is oak, while the wheels are made of hickory. The material used in the construction of the vehicle is still in a splendid state of preservation, and Mr. Morgan is confident that it will last ten years longer.

"FRESH" EGG IS 5 YEARS OLD

Identified by Woman Who Wrote Her Name on It.

Bellefontaine, O.—Mrs. John Wright of Bellefontaine has proof that an egg sometimes remains in cold storage nearly five years.

At least six months before she was married she was working in a store at Lakeview, Logan county, O. She wrote her name and address on an egg that was placed in a crate. Four years ago July 3, she was married to John Wright. Recently she received a letter from New York, addressed to her by her maiden name.

It came from John J. Sweeney, 17 East Ninety-fourth street, New York, who said he had just bought the egg. Mrs. Wright has written Mr. Sweeney saying it is now at least five years since she wrote her name on the egg which, he says, he bought as "strictly fresh."

There are nearly 2,000 Mohammedans resident in London itself, the majority, of course, being natives of India, who are merchants or law students, though some are Britons, and it is intended to erect a new and splendid mosque, modeled on that of Delhi, which will cost not less than $500,000.

Pictorial trademarks for cotton piece goods intended for sale among the Hindus of India usually have their subjects incidents in Hindu mythology, romantic drama, temple deities, nautch girls and European actresses. Mohammedan people like pictures showing Mohammedan soldiers vanquishing their Christian enemies.

Gambling In Advertising

CONSIDER the merchant who inserts an advertisement once or twice—or maybe for a week—and then stops to see if it has paid.

Is he not, in spirit, a gambler?

Consider also his brother merchant—the man who never runs an advertisement until he has first consulted the weather column and the market page and the clouds of the sky to make sure conditions are right—and whose best laid plans are cast to nothingness by a gust of snow or a shower of rain.

Is not he, too, a gambler?

And the merchant who experiments in divers novelties and souvenirs—and falls victim to every new fledged scheme that masks behind the name of publicity.

Is not he, likewise, a gambler?

To such men advertising is like a game of roulette.

They stake their money and watch the wheel spin round. If it stops on the red they win; if it stops on the black they lose

There is nothing of faith in the whole transaction—purely a matter of blind, unreasoning luck.

They are the playthings of fate; and their god is the god of chance.

BUT the merchant who advertises persistently in a medium of known worth worships at a different altar

To him, advertising is a certainty

The Washington merchant, for example, whose advertisement appear practically each evening in the Washington Daily Herald day after day, in season and out—whose announcements represent, not one or two or three, but nearly every department of his store—is a mighty hard man to convince that advertising is a gamble.

To him advertising is a never-failing force in marketing his merchandise. It is infinitely more than that. It is a lease on the good will and patronage of the public—a guarantee of the perpetuity of his business.

Seasons come and seasons go—some of them not as favorable to his products as others. This he knows—and admits—and expects. But whatever the season or weather or direction of the wind, his advertisement appears just the same. He takes every vestige of chance out of the equation. Rain or shine, storm or calm—whatever business there is he gets.

To such a merchant advertising is a form of insurance—a protection vastly more essential to the growth and stability of his business than the printed policy he holds covering his fixtures and the physical value of his merchandise.

FOREIGN ELEMENT IS CHAFING UNDER DELAY

By Associated Press.

London, England, Jan. 29.—The relations of the United States with Great Britain in regard to the Panama Canal tolls, the controversy between Washington and Tokio over the California land ownership legislation and President Wilson's policy toward Mexico, are the subjects of lenghty dispatches today from British newspaper correspondents in Washington, but there is a singular lack of editorial comment on these subjects.

The Pall Mall Gazette is the only newspaper to mention Mexico editorially. It says: "President Wilson has laid himself open to the charge of having chalked up 'No Huerta' and then run away. It is a position that becomes worse for the prestage of the Washington government every day on which nothing happens."

Financiers who are interested in Mexico are becoming impatient at the lack of action shown by President Wilson. A meeting of the Mexico section of the London Chamber of Commerce is to be called shortly to discuss the replies to a circular letter recently sent out to its members asking their views "as to the advisability for Great Britain to join with France and Germany in asking President Wilson to take some steps to adjust the financial position of Mexico."

GOETHALS TO RULE PANAMA

By Associated Press.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 29.—Secretary Garrison announced today that Col. Geo. W. Goethals had signified his intention of accepting the governorship of the Panama Canal Zone to be offered him by the President.

Mr. Garrison intimated that Col. Goethals' acceptance was unqualified. "I am not able to give out the terms of Col. Goethals' acceptance at the present time," said Secretary Garrison, "but it was whole and complete. When President Wilson sends his name to the Senate, I shall probably be able to make an interesting statement."

By Associated Press.

Va., January 29.—The State Supreme Court of Appeals refused writs of error in the cases of the five members of the West Virginia legislature convicted last summer of bribery in connection with the U. S. Senatorial election earlier in the year. The men, who have been confined in the Webster county jail since their conviction, will be taken to the state penitentiary at Moundsville, at once to serve their sentence. They are Ben A. Smith, 5½ years; S. W. G. Rhodes, Mingo county; Rath Duff, Jackson county; Dr. H. A. Asbury, Putnam county, each 6 years, and David Hill, Mason county, 5 years. The court was unanimous in the refusal of the writ in the case of Senator Smith, but in the other four cases the vote was 3 to 2.

WILL ENFORCE ONE RELIGION FOR EXAMPLE

By Associated Press.

Peking, China, January 29.—A bill prescribing the worship of Heaven and Confucius by the President of the Chinese Republic, was passed today by the Administrative Council, which took the place of the Chinese Parliament, recently dissolved by President Yuan Shi-Kai. The measure was submitted to the council by the President himself.

It is understood that the President's idea is to set an example to the Chinese nation. The President will worship at the Temple of Confucius and at the Temple of Heaven annually in the same way as the Manchu Emperors did, but without wearing the diadem.

WE ARE SURPRISED

Washington, D. C., January 29.—As the Chinese provisional constitution which Yuan Shi-Kai has sworn to uphold in Section 7 of Article 6, says that "citizens shall have the freedom of religion," officials here were somewhat surprised at the action of the Chinese Administrative council.

By Associated Press.

Columbus, Ohio, Jan. 29.—A respite of 60 days was granted by Governor Cox today to Leslie Humphreys under sentence to be electrocuted at midnight tonight for the murder of Samuel E. Kelly, of Lenark, W. Va. Humphreys at one time confessed that he murdered Kelly and robbed his body of several hundred dollars which the latter had received from a recent sale of some property.

Later he repudiated the confession and insisted that the killing was the result of a drunken fight. Kelly had come to Columbus on an N. & W. train on which Humphreys was a brakeman and was killed in a lonely part of the railroad yards in this city.

Indianapolis, Ind., January 29.—The roll-call on the question to increase the president's salary to $4000 a year was completed today by the convention of the United Mine Workers of America, but the tellers said they would be unable to report until later in the day. The vote was very close, but some of the delegates who kept tally said the increase was voted down. Scenes almost equalling those of late yesterday when the convention was in a turmoil were enacted when the committee on constitution resumed its report. No important changes were made. The speech of Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor was made a special order of business for 2:30 o'clock this afternoon.

ARGENTINA CORN EXHIBITED HERE

A sample of corn from the Argentine Republic is on exhibition at the Washington Savings bank, and is attracting quite a little attention among local citizens.

The grains of the corn are about one-half the size of Fayette county corn, and resemble the grains on the small end of the average ear of corn.

The samples come from E. F. Newing, importer and exporter, of Galveston, and the wholesale price at Galveston is 63c per bushel.

The corn is very flinty, and is said to test 12 per cent less moisture than the average American grown corn, and to contain more oil.

Vast amounts of the corn are being shipped to this country, where a great shortage in the crop resulted last year.

VOTERS MAY DECIDE QUESTION OF ERECTING CITY BUILDING

According to one of the councilmen favoring the erection of a city building on the Market street lot, a resolution will probably soon be presented to council asking that a bond issue be authorized for the purpose of defraying the expenses of erecting a city building.

Whether a building costing more than $5,000 will be asked, is not known, but if the amount exceeds that allowed without a vote of the people being necessary, the question of issuing bonds will be put up to the voters of the city, it is claimed.

The movement for the erection of a new building was launched at a recent meeting of the city council, but no definite action was taken.

It is understood that if the question of issuing the bonds is submitted to the voters, it will not be done before the next primary election.

It is claimed by those favoring a new city building that a municipal prison must be established in the near future, owing to the recent action of the county commissioners, and that a building containing offices for the various city officials, including council chambers, mayor's office, with the addition of a municipal prison for all city prisoners, could be erected at no great cost.

The question of erecting a new municipal building has been taken up and discussed at various times during the past few years, and at one time plans for a building costing upward of $40,000 were considered.

NUMBER OF DECISIONS NOW ESTIMATED AT FULLY 500

Twenty Additional Converts in This City Last Night and Meetings Are Now Attracting Deepest Interest of Any Time During Campaign—Number of Converts Expected to Reach 1500 Before Campaign Closes.

(By Hugh C. Weir.)

Five hundred conversions and church additions. This is the estimated total of the Simultaneous Campaign to date, counting both city and county churches.

That it will reach fifteen hundred before the end of the campaign is the conviction of Secretary Zaner. Last night twenty conversions were recorded in local churches, making a total of fifty for the first two evenings of the week's services in local churches.

Today for the first time in the campaign the noon-day service at the Palace theater was made into an evangelistic meeting, and it is believed that this feature will prove a decided stimulus to the campaign.

Mrs. John Thomas met the girls of the High school class at Grace M. E. church at three o'clock this afternoon for a special service.

SERVICES OF LAST NIGHT.

One of the most stirring services of the campaign, with the largest single number of confessions to date at the Grace M. E. church, was held last night. The interest in reaching a really remarkable point at that church, and even greater results are expected during the week. Mr. Ross gave a gripping sermon on "The Waiting Guest", and Mr. and Mrs. Thomas led a splendid song program. During the evening, Mr. Thomas sang with telling effect the famous Sparrow Song.

AT THE BAPTIST CHURCH.

There was a large audience at the Baptist church again last night. Miss Sheen led the music in her vigorous and effective way. Mr. Brandt preached on the subject of "Repentance," dwelling on the fact that in the New Testament dispensation, God commands men to repent. He said that there are three things included in Scriptural repentence. We must first see ourselves the way we are in the sight of God. Then we ought to have feelings suitable to this enlightened vision. And finally the vision and feeling ought to produce action, and make us turn away from our sinful course of life.

Tomorrow night Mr. Brandt will preach on "The Responsibility for Neglecting so Great a Salvation".

AT THE CHRISTIAN CHURCH.

Another splendid service was held at the Christian church last night, with one of the features of the service a choir of ninety voices. The little church on the corner again was packed. A praise and thank offering for the remarkable results of the campaign preceded the regular service. Mrs. Bowman Hostetler contributed an appealing solo. Mr. Hostetler preached on the subject, "Conversion", telling the story of how Philip won the Eunich to Christ. "Any person who takes Christ into his life must of necessity feel the thrill of Christian joy, and go on his way with a new happiness," declared Mr. Hostetler.

A number of conversions were recorded at the end of the service, raising the total at this church to 99.

AT THE PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH.

Dr. Charles Shaw, wife and little daughter left for their home in Jamestown, N. Y., yesterday morning, a large crowd of friends attending them to the station. Last night Rev. W. B. Gage, occupied the pulpit, delivering a strong sermon on the subject of "Peace", emphasizing the spirit of rest and security that comes into the life that has accepted Christ. Services will be held each evening of the week as before.

STATE SUNDAY SCHOOL RALLY

All the counties of Central and Southern Ohio are expecting to send their Sunday school workers to Columbus on Thursday, February 5th to participate in the rally and the big meeting held in conjunction with the World's Sunday School Tour Party, which is conducting a campaign for the evangelization of Turkey and the other Moslem countries.

The program will open at 9:30 in the morning. Various subjects of interest to county, township and state will be taken up leading to the consideration of the World's Sunday School Association work in Moslem lands. This will be handled by Rev. S. M. Zwermer and Rev. S. R. Van Trowbridge, both of whom have had many years of service in the orient.

Marion Lawrance will also address the gathering.

Another topic which will be taken up will be the relation of church and Sunday school to the newspaper This with a view to bringing about a closer understanding between the press of Ohio and the church. T. T. Frankenberg, of the Ohio State Journal will discuss this topic.

Following the morning session there will be a luncheon at which all delegates and visitors are expected to get acquainted. The evening meeting, which will be open to the general public, will be held in the largest available church. C. W. Shinn, State General Secretary, has made this meeting the occasion for a gathering of all of his field workers in this section of the state. In addition to remarks by himself, the speakers representing the state will be Mrs. Phebe A. Curtiss, State Elementary Superintendent, M. G. Baily State Secondary Superintendent. E. F. Arras, State Adult Superintendent and Judge Alexander Boxwell, State Educational Superintendent.

Columbus, O., Jan. 29. — After the administration program has been gotten out of the way, Governor Cox proposes to send a special message to the legislators, asking that provision be made by the state for the care of drug victims in its hospitals. He made a promise to Representative Warren J. Duffey of Lucas county that this would be done. Duffey wants the Lima state hospital set aside for the treatment of drug users. He says there are 8,000 such victims in the state.

HAUNTED HILL IN THIS COUNTY

Famous "Ghost" of "Cherry Hill," Northern Fayette County Forms Subject of a Story Contributed to The Dayton News' Ghost Story Contest—Weird Stories of the Haunted Hill Recalled Here.

The following ghost story has been contributed by a writer from this county, to the ghost story contest now being conducted by the Dayton Daily News, and the narrative founded upon the folklore connected with "Cherry Hill" on the Selsor estate, some four miles north of Bloomingburg, will be of interest to local citizens:

THE HAUNTED HILL

A shadowy steed ridden by a man without a head is the strange apparation which for a great many years made "Cherry Hill" a source of constant dread to the wayfarer who was forced to pass the place after nightfall.

"Cherry Hill," or, as it is more familiarly known, the "Haunted Hill," is located along the roadside in northern Fayette county, Ohio, and in the early days, when Ohio was still in her primitive state, a large, clap-board-covered log tavern stood upon the hill where one of the darkest crimes in the history of those pioneer days is alleged to have been committed.

A wealthy landbuyer, so the story goes, stopped at the tavern for the night, and was never heard from again. His strange disappearance, coupled with the fact that his saddlebags were filled with gold, gave rise to the story that he had been murdered and his body dropped into one of the several old wells, the marks of which still scar the hillock.

Soon strange weired stories began to be whispered about, and persons whose veracity had never been questioned, told of passing the old tavern at night and beholding a headless horse ridden by a headless man, moving about the hill.

Others related blood-curdling tales of being pursued by the ghost of the hapless landbuyer. Soon the tavern was deserted. Then the entire countryside was thrilled with reports of how prominent residents, who were compelled to pass the hill under cover of darkness, beheld brilliant lights flashing through the chinks in the old tavern, making it stand out sharp against the darkness, while fearful groans emanated from the interior. None ever stopped to investigate, for the headless horseman made his appearance at more frequent intervals than ever, frightening the country folk until all were atingle with excitement and dread.

One fellow, more brave than some of his neighbors, determined to go to the haunted hill and defy the ghost. It was a dark, foggy, dismal night and he stood the test until the apparition approached him and the horse, with its gruesome rider, walked directly through the solid fence and approached him. With a cry of horror he put spur to his horse and fled at break-neck speed.

Years passed and the deserted tavern gradually crumbled away until the foundation stones and a few brick remained, but the ghostly air hung over the haunted hill and it was a place shunned by all.

A few years ago, when the ghost made its last appearance, it suddenly loomed up before the startled eyes of an old colored man who was returning home late at night. The man's horse became frightened and, dashing the buggy to pieces, ran home, leaving the frightened man by the roadside. His story of how the headless horseman suddenly appeared before him until his teeth chattered and his hair stood on end, startled the neighborhood, but since that time the headless horseman and his headless steed have never shown themselves, and the little hill with its depressions, which mark the location of the old wells, stands out peacefully amid the fertile fields of the quiet countryside, with hardly a hint of the wierd tales associated with it.

TREATIES ARE NOW IN ORDER

Discussion Indicates An Early Report to the Senate.

FAVORABLE ACTION PROBABLE

Arbitration Pacts With Great Britain, Japan, Italy and Portugal Likely To Be Reported In the Form They Were Drawn Up by the State Department—Canal Tolls Question the Next to Receive Consideration.

Washington, Jan. 29.—The senate foreign relations committee called up the pending arbitration treaties with Great Britain, Japan, Italy and Portugal. A discussfon of the treaties indicated an early report on them in practically the form in which they have been sent to the senate by the state department. Favorable action on the arbitration treaties is expected to follow in the senate within a few days.

With the arbitration treaties disposed of the administration will direct its attention to the Panama canal tolls question. The president already has indicated to members of the foreign relations committee that he is against the granting of free tolls to American coastwise ships, and believes some legislative action ought to be taken which will remove Great Britain's ground of complaint that the Pan-American canal act constitutes a violation of the Hay-Pauncefote treaty.

The differences which have developed between the United States and Great Britain over the Panama canal tolls question, the feeling against the United States in Russia because of the abrogation of the commercial treaty; the failure of the senate to act on arbitration treaties negotiated by nations of the first class in the best of faith, and the issue with Japan over the California alien land laws have developed a situation which is likely to hamper the United States in its efforts to solve the difficulties in Mexico.

All of these matters are giving the administration considerable concern at this time, not because of any single issue involved, but because of the peculiarly isolated position in which the United States would find itself in the event of serious trouble being precipitated by any nation.

MARINES RESTORE QUIET IN HAITI

Washington, Jan. 29. — The situation in Haiti is chaotic and is likely to lead to the setting up of a revolutionist government in opposition to to the declaration of President Wilson in favor of "constitutional government." This was indicated in dispatches received in Washington. Reports of the abdication of President Orestes and his seeking refuge on the German cruiser Vineta as soon as fighting began in Port-Au-Prince were confirmed in dispatches to the state department. There is now no government in Haiti, though the local authorities with the assistance of the American and German marines are restoring order.

Senator Theodore, leader of the revolution, is reported about to proceed to Port-Au-Prince, presumably to make an effort to secure his own installation into the presidency of the republic.

The New School Bill

The House of Representatives on Wednesday afternoon, by a vote of eighty-eight to twenty-seven, passed the Lowry bill, generally known as the "School Survey bill", and by so doing carried out the recommendations made months ago by the Survey Commission appointed by Governor Cox.

The provisions of the bill as passed by the House do not affect city schools. It is the aim to better conditions in the rural schools of the state, to give to the pupils of the rural schools advantages in the way of education, especially in the common branches, which it is not possible to give them under the present system.

Beginning several years ago and growing steadily in strength all the time, there has been an agitation in favor of better facilities in the rural schools, better opportunity for the children of the rural districts.

It has been generally conceded as a fact that the rural schools had not kept pace with the progress made by the schools of the city districts.

That condition was largely attributed, by people, who gave the subject thought, to the fact that the rural communities had outgrown the present system and that before better facilities for educating the youth of the rural districts could be obtained the whole system for maintaining and conducting the schools must be changed.

Heeding this demand which had grown to such proportions that it could not longer be ignored the governor last winter appointed a commission to make a thorough investigation of the subject, report the result of that investigation and make such recommendations, in the way of change, in the present plan which the members, as experts believed would better conditions.

The present bill passed Wednesday by the house is the recommendation of the commission and it is expected to revolutionize the country school system. Supervision and centralization are the most important features.

Here in prosperous Fayette county, the need of a change was not so pressing as it was in the majority of the counties in the state and where the need of change is not so imperative, it follows that the change in system will not be so marked.

In the counties containing but few good roads and but little high class farming land the demand that something be done to better conditions and provide better educational facilities was insistent and deserving of the attention of both the legislative and executive branches of the state government.

Naturally enough the bill is met with opposition and the recommendations of the commission were met with decided opposition also. Every marked change in existing conditions always is opposed, if it is designed and intended to be effective.

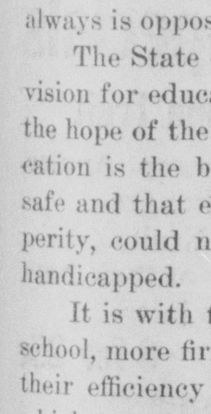

The State of Ohio, always in the forefront in making provision for educating the growing boys and girls, realizing that the hope of the nation rests in an enlightened people, that education is the bulwark behind which our free institutions are safe and that educational facilities must keep pace with prosperity, could no longer permit the great rural schools to be handicapped.

It is with the intent of broadening the scope of the rural school, more firmly securing them to the people and increasing their efficiency that the Lowry bill was passed and the line which separated the advocates of the measure from its opponents, both in and out of the house, was in no sense a political line.

Much of good is claimed for the plan proposed in the new bill and in a great section of the state there is much room for improvement.

Obsolete Vessels Should Make Way For Four Battleship Program; Nation Should Prepare

By Admiral GEORGE DEWEY, Hero of Manila Bay

© by Waldon Fawcett.

I SEE no signs of war in the future. I trust there will be no more wars. I do feel, however, that THIS NATION SHOULD NOT BE OFF ITS GUARD. You can say for me that my views of peace and the future of the navy are expressed in the few words of General Keifer, who represented Ohio in congress, "In time of peace prepare to maintain it."

THAT IS THE WAY I FEEL ABOUT THE NAVY, AND, WHILE I HOPE AND BELIEVE THERE WILL BE NO MORE WARS, IT SEEMS TO ME THAT IT IS WELL FOR THIS NATION TO HAVE A FOUR BATTLESHIP PROGRAM TO REPLACE OBSOLETE VESSELS AND TO PREPARE TO MAINTAIN PEACE.

Poetry For Today

THE LOST TRAIL.

Green woodland pity heals the ancient scar;
Spring after spring, through still unresting years,
In little saplings and the tufted pine,
The old trail disappears.

Forbidden pine and fern-brake come once more;
Brown leaves have hid the secret deep and well;
Only the scattered blaze-marks, blurred and dim,
A fading message tell.

One coming here might seek for it in vain;
There is no sign above the guarded gate
To point the path, to where the still wood keeps
Its heart inviolate.

The old path fades, forgotten; only guessed,
And scarcely found and once more lost again.
No record serves to show the long-healed wound
Of havoc and of pain.

God send all trails forgetfulness as this!
Such healing pity of the kindly years,
That no swift-footed memory may find
Lost places of old tears!

—Arthur Ketchum in Atlantic Monthly.

J. N., the wandering philosopher, was fined in Eupala, Ala., the other day for drunkenness. Having for once failed to lift the veil and remove the pressure, he passed from the court room grandly, muttering: "O Justice! thou art fled to the frutish beasts!" and repaired to other rooms to fill up again.

All our folks being on the sick list last Saturday, we had no one to get us "wittls" and were compelled to go to Burk's Dining Saloon for provender for the inner man and we must confess we were highly delighted with the variety and style of the meal there served up. Roast beef, cold beef, fish, potatoes, hominy corn bread, pie, etc, cooked in a style that would have done credit to Delmonico's Restaurant, or any fashionable eating saloon, served by active and polite waiters. We cannot but recommend our readers who want a good square meal to give Burk a call.

NEWSY NOTES

(By John E. M. Kerr.)

The plans and specifications of the new Piqua postoffice have been received by Postmaster Prince. The building, to cost about $175,000, is to be 100 feet by 125 feet square, two stories and a basement.

After lawing ten years through different courts, the city of Greenville, Ohio, has at last succeeded in getting permission to extend a street across the right of way of the C. C. & St. L. railway. Council passed the ordinance opening the street, but the railroad blocked the work on the thoroughfare on the plea that the work interfered with the reasonable use of the property of the company. The court has now held differently.

Because of the fact that gambling and drinking of intoxicating liquors were permitted at some of the Ohio County Fairs last summer, the Agricultural Commission resolved that in the future no state aid amounting to $2,300 to each county fair, be given where such was permitted the preceding year. This applies to intoxicating liquors, to pooling or individual gambling on horse racing, the cane ring, contests of all kinds, into which the element of chance enters.

After drinking vinegar high balls, George Schmidt, of Clermont county, began seeing things. After robbing a grocery of oysters, crackers, etc., a saloon of liquors and cigars, and a country postoffice of a quantity of stamps, bloodhounds were placed on the trail. Running down Schmidt, who was enjoying his loot, the fellow denied all knowledge of his actions and claimed the vinegar high balls should be held responsible for his wrong doings.

A petition 30 feet long praying that the stone and other material contained in the present Court House of Hamilton County, be transported to the Carthage Fair grounds and used in erecting a stately agricultural hall and assembly building. The Court House is soon to be taken down and the Commissioners are now trying to decide on a practicable disposition of the old building.

MAY RAISE EMBARGO

Washington, Jan. 29.—Informal inquiry among prominent administration officials disclosed the fact that practically the entire cabinet, many members of the senate foreign relations committee and many of the leaders in congress generally are ready to support the president should he raise the embargo on shipment of arms into Mexico. The chief argument being placed before President Wilson now is that the Huerta government has experienced little difficulty in buying munitions of war in countries other than the United States, while the Constitutionalists have been cut off from their only external source of supply—the American border—and that in this respect the American policy is one of partiality instead of neutrality.

YOUTHS SENTENCED FOR STEALING ROBE AND WHIP

Orville Stuckey and Roy Church, the two young men who were arrested Wednesday afternoon for the theft of a robe belonging to C. A. Kelley, were arraigned before Mayor Coffey Wednesday evening about 8 o'clock, to plead to an affidavit filed by Mr. Kelley charging them with petit larceny.

Both of the boys entered pleas of guilty to the charge, although each accused the other of being the one responsible for the theft and subsequent sale of the robe.

They were taken back to the county jail and Thursday morning Mayor Coffey sentenced Stuckey to a long term in the Xenia work house, and gave Church ten days in the county jail. Stuckey will be taken to the work house at once.

The pair admitted taking the robe from the rig of the owner while the rig was in front of the residence of Mrs. Seeks in Bloomingburg. They secured a whip at the same time, and when they arrived in this city and disposed of the robe they were accused of having stolen it, and admitted the theft. The robe was turned over to the police and the owner found.

When he arrived in the city Wednesday night, Mr. Kelley had no difficulty in identifying the robe and whip.

Stuckey has served time in the Boys' Industrial School at Lancaster, and has been in trouble time after time. A few days ago he was under arrest for obtaining goods under false pretense. Since that time he has committed a similar offense, it is claimed, and there are other charges which are said to be made against him.

The evidence clearly indicated that he was the prime mover in the robe stealing. Young Church has not been in trouble in this city before, he claims, and his story of the affair was evidently the correct one of the two.

W. C. T. U. CONDEMNS IMMODEST DRESS

The women of the Sugar Grove Women's Christian Temperance union have gone on record as being unalterably opposed to the present modes in women's wearing apparel, and have adopted a resolution to that effect.

The resolution is as follows:

"We, the ladies of the Sugar Grove W. C. T. U., in session this, the 28th day of January, 1914, do hereby submit the following resolution:

"Resolved—That we condemn the present immodest mode of dress, worn by many women of today, and desire to use our influence against the same.

Resolutions Committee."

It is claimed that this resolution was unanimously adopted. The affair occasioned no little discussion among the members after its passage, and will be discussed with interest by large numbers of women.

It is expected that other unions will follow the example set by the Sugar Grove Union.

The resolution was passed at a very interesting monthly meeting held at the home of Mrs. F. E. Haines Miss Ivah Haines assisting hostess. The subject was "Sabbath Observance," Mrs. Harry King in charge.

Four excellent papers were presented by Mrs. Tasso Post, Mrs. Delcia Elliott, Mrs. Frank Haines, Mrs. Laura Pine.

The Physical Culture exercises closed the session, which was followed by delicious refreshments.

RIGHTS OF PRESS ARE MADE PLAIN

The fact that a newspaper has a property right in news relating to the actions of public officials, was carried in a decision handed down in Chillicothe Wednesday, by Judge Goldsberry, in the Common Pleas court of that city.

Judge Goldsberry made permanent a temporary restraining order in the case of the Scioto Gazette company, a corporation, against Robt. D. Alexander, auditor of Ross county, enjoining the defendant from preventing employes of the plaintiff from being present at the meetings of the county commissioners. The case has been in the courts for nearly three years.

Judge Goldsberry held that if it appears that a public official interfers, or threatens to interfere with reporters in their efforts to obtain in a lawful manner, news relating to the actions of public officials, such interference, and any attempts at intimidation, can be enjoined, if it is shown that the paper would suffer material loss in subscribers by its inability to secure such news.

UNUSUAL CASE IN COMMON PLEAS COURT

Judge Carpenter, who is presiding in the Common Pleas court at Circleville, had an unusual case Wednesday. It was the State of Ohio vs. Harry Ruckman, charged with criminal actions toward his step-daughter.

The prosecuting witness broke down and sobbed, and the defendant expressed his willingness to plead guilty to the ugly charge against him The case was brought to an abrupt end, and Judge Carpenter discharged the jury and witnesses, but deferred sentence for the time being.

FALLS FROM HORSE PAINFULLY INJURED

Thursday morning while riding a horse near the B. & O. depot, Ralph Moore, aged 15, of Millwood, fell from the animal and struck his head upon a sharp stone, inflicting a very ugly cut in the back of his head.

Mr. H. A. Anderson, of the Hagerty Shoe Company, was passing at the time and assisted the youth to a physician's office, where the wound, some two inches in length, was dressed.

The lad lost considerable blood before the gaping wound was closed. Fortunately the skull was not fractured, and the lad will soon recover.

James Canaday is now Xenia's Chief of Police, succeeding Chief E. M. Smith, who has served at the head of the police force in Xenia for many years.

The new chief has been a patrolman on the force for several years, and is well qualified for his new position.

PARTIAL PLANS ARE MADE PUBLIC

Many railroad men see in the announcement made by the C. & O. railroad of its intention to build a trunk road to Jackson, the ultimate ownership of the D. T. & I. by the C. & O. This has been rumored for sometime.

According to the Cincinnati Enquirer it is now definitely known that the C. & O. will bridge the Ohio river near Ironton, and when the trunk road is built to Jackson, direct connection with the D. T. & I. will be possible, and some difficult road on the D. T. & I. will be eliminated.

Other railroad men state that the C. & O. will connect with the Hocking Valley at Jackson and turn its great volume of coal over that road, which it is said to own.

Still others say a large amount of the coal will be shipped over the C. H. & D. from Wellston, so that in two out of the three alternatives, the coal will pass through this city.

MILL ONCE MORE CHANGES HANDS

The New Holland flour mill and coal business connected with it, which has been conducted by E. R. Burton and Son, has changed hands, A. H. Vanriper, of Shaftsburg, Mich., making the purchase.

MEMOIR.

Effie Waddel, daughter of James and Annie Waddel, was born near Rainsboro, Highland county, on the 22nd day of March, 1844. She was one of a family of 12 children of whom 8 have crossed to eternity with their parents.

Her childhood days were spent at the old home and with the exception of the last ten years she had her own home near that place.

On June the 2nd, 1880, she was united in marriage to Daniel C. McCallister. One daughter, Daisy E., was born to this union.

This daughter and husband together with the brother at the old home place, one in Bainbridge and a sister in Kansas mourn the departure of a beloved wife, mother and sister. May the days bring to them the feeling that when God called this loved one home it was not to give them pain or sorrow, nor even an earthly loss, but He, in his Divine Fatherhood, was only desirous of laying up treasures in Heaven for His children. May they realize that the day of her death, January 19, 1914, was also the day of her heavenly birth.

To the sorrowing neighbors and friends, for she had many who loved and esteemed her, we would say that in Heaven we shall know as we are known.

To be loved and praised by those who have been with us in all the moods and phases of life is a high tribute to our lives. When neighbors say, "she was a good woman", and husband and daughter in tones laden with love and sincerity say "there is nothing too good to be said of her," then the best epitaph has been worded and it is for us to turn to the Great Comforter and pray for grace to live as well as she lived and direct our every word, thought and act heavenward, where through Christ, our Savior, we may be united in one great family.

In Social Circles

Miss Margaret Brust and Mr. Theodore Crossen had a quiet and simply arranged home wedding at noon today, the wedding taking place at 12 o'clock at the residence of the bride's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Adam Wamser, of North Walnut street, with whom she has made her home for a number of years.

Rev. Corliss Hargraves, who officiated, awaited the couple in the parlor, and as they entered, Mrs. Fred Brust, presiding at the piano, played Mendelssohn's Wedding March, and during the ceremony the sweet strains of "Thine Own" formed an appropriate accompaniment to the softly spoken vows. Mrs. Brust again changed to the Mendelssohn March as congratulations were extended.

The bride wore an extremely becoming gown of white serge, trimmed with lace and finished with chiffon ruching.

After the nuptial ceremony a two-course wedding dinner was served. Pink and white carnations adorned the table, at which covers were placed for twelve, the guests including only the immediate members of the two families.

Mr. and Mrs. Crossen left on the 2:25 C. H. & D. train for Washington C. H., where they will remain a few days, while getting their home in order. They will live on a farm a mile from Washington, and after arranging their house, will return for a short stay with the bride's relatives before beginning housekeeping.

Mrs. Crossen wore on her departure a smart dark blue coat suit and a blue marquisette blouse made over Persian silk. A blue hat with ornamenting plume and other accessories to match completed her going-away attire.—Scoto Gazette, Chillicothe.

An exceptionally large number of Presbyterian Guild women, about 60, thoroughly enjoyed the fortnightly Kensington at the home of Mrs. Hibben Ervin, with Mesdames Emma Grove, Fred Sprenger, Harry Rankin, Fred Hamm, Jennie Bailey assisting hostesses.

An elegant collation was served.

Mrs. C. E. Lloyd charmingly entertained her Kensington club this afternoon.

TO THE PUBLIC.

Noticing an ad. by a new implement firm of the Original Scotch Clipper breaking plow, I write you this to give you a little history of the Scotch Clipper: Years ago, with the first make of plows this county and other counties where the soil was similar, they had a great deal of trouble in the loose black soil with the plow shedding the soil. The Moline Plow Co., of Moline, Ill., first learned that it required two essential points to do this. First, the shape of the moleboard and second the material in the moleboard and share. By experience they found that Acme soft center steel put in the moleboard and share on the plow which they named Scotch Clipper, would shed the soil in any land in Fayette county, consequently their plow gained a good reputation.

Since then other manufactories have tried to get in on their trade by naming their plows Scotch Clipper. Remember, if you want the Original Scotch Clipper, it must be manufactured by the Moline Plow Co., Moline, Ill. I have handled this plow for the last 20 years, keep them in stock, and supplies for them, buying 100 shares at a time, thereby getting the best price, furnish you a new shares for $2.50, when other makes want you to wait a few days and pay express from factory. Do not forget that the Original Scotch Clipper is made of Acme Soft Center Steel; get the one made by Moline Plow Co., Moline, Ill., and sold by Chas. F. Bonham, West Court St., Washington C. H., Ohio. adv

Enlisted Men Not Well Grounded Must Attend Classes.

TO EXAMINE ALL SAILORS.

Points Out That Such Work Would Increase Efficiency of Jackies—Junior Officers From Naval Academy Will Act as Instructors—Will Aid Men at Expiration of Service.

Washington.—Secretary of the Navy Daniels has issued an order making it compulsory for all enlisted men of the navy who are not well grounded in the common school branches and have not yet completed two years' service in the navy to attend the service schools, which will be held aboard ship and at training stations and yards. Junior officers only recently out of the Naval academy will act as instructors. Instruction in reading, writing, arithmetic, spelling, geography and history will be continued until each man has attained a satisfactory standard.

Academic instruction will be limited to three-fourths of an hour each day and the remainder of the study period will be devoted to technical and naval subjects. Men who do not need the academic course will devote the whole period to other branches.

The routine aboard ship will be arranged so that the following general principle as regards the employment of the men may be followed as far as possible: All hands to, 9:15; cleaning and shipwork; 9:15 to 11:45, drills and routine duties; 11:45 to 1:15, dinner and recreation; 1:15 to 2:30, instruction and school daily except Saturdays, Sundays and holidays; 2:30 to 4:30, drill, work and recreation.

The instruction will be under the general direction of the commanding officer. The executive officer will have immediate charge, assisted by all commissioned officers and by such warrant and petty officers as may be necessary in the different apartments aboard ship.

Division officers are directed to examine all men under their supervision, noting the deficiencies of each man, the amount of instruction he may have received at the training station, the branches in which further instruction is most needed, the fitness of each man for promotion, the branch for which he is best suited and the personal preferences and ambitions of each in order that classes may be formed to secure progress and improvement in the mental and technical training of men in every branch of the navy service.

Whenever the weather or the circumstances of service of any particular ship or ships are such that additional times during the day may be given to instruction, commanding officers are urged to increase the periods of instruction and to encourage night classes when practicable.

Secretary Daniels points out that the idea which prevails in some quarters that this instruction will interfere with strictly man-of-war work appears to be groundless, inasmuch as more than three-fourths of the order is devoted to the consideration of strictly technical and naval instruction along lines that will tend directly to the increased efficiency of a man-of-war.

The Naval academy is to be the center for the preparation of handbooks to be used by beginners. Provision is made for the gradual supply of the necessary books needed in both the academic and professional branches of instruction. It is required that a complete record of each man's progress shall be permanently attached to his enlistment record and that he shall receive a certificate of proficiency at the completion of his term of service in the navy.

Secretary Daniels, by instituting this educational system, makes it possible for every young man in the navy—and of the whole enlisted personnel more than 30 per cent are young—to obtain commissions in the service or a professional training which will enable him to enter on even terms with civilians in professional life outside the navy.

The whole scheme follows the idea of Secretary Daniels that the navy should be a great school as well as a working institution.

SEA HEAVES UP WRECKAGE.

Timbers of Old Ship and Skeleton of Mastodon Come Ashore.

Santa Barbara, Cal.—For several days a submarine disturbance has kept the ocean along the south coast in fury, during which time the weather has been fine and the water comparatively calm several miles from the shore. At last the wreckage of an old ship was cast up.

A few miles southward part of a mastodon's skeleton, which apparently had been brought up from a great depth, was washed ashore. The skeleton fragments included about thirty-five feet of vertebrae, and the skull was eight feet, tusks intact.

The ship's wreckage bore indications that it had lain on the ocean's bottom for perhaps 100 years.

ARTIST LIVED TWO MONTHS IN WILDS

Starting Naked, Knowles Returned Fully Clad.

USED SKINS AS HIS RAIMENT

Had Lost Thirty Pounds, but Is Well. Lonesomeness of the Forest One of the Worst Features and Nearly Drove Him Mad—Had No Food and Lived on Animals He Killed and Berries.

Boston.—Joseph Knowles, the Boston artist, after a two months' fight for existence in the forests of Maine, is back in civilization.

Clad in rudely dressed skins of black bear and deer and carrying in a pack on his back a fire machine and other tools he had fashioned to aid him in living in a primitive way, Knowles looked like a cave man. Thus ended a test of hardihood and endurance, of skill in conquering a hostile environment.

On Aug. 4 Knowles plunged into the forests near Spencer lake, in Somerset county, Me. He was naked. He had no weapons, no tools or implements of any kind, no food. He promised to come out of the woods fully clad and in good health and physical condition. He has kept his promise in every detail.

He lost thirty pounds of weight in the two months, dropping from 204 pounds to 174. His appearance clearly told the tale of the hardships he has undergone. From head to heel he was scratched and bruised by the briars and underbrush in which he lived for sixty days. He is tanned almost black.

Over his neck and arms was a black bear skin, cleverly fastened with thongs of deerskin. His trousers were of deerskin, made Indian fashion, with the hair inside. His feet were incased in moccasins of buckskin, sewed with sinew. He wore no hat, no sleeves, no underwear.

On his back was a knapsack of woven bark. It was filled with trophies from the forest. Slung over his arm were his bows and arrows. Sheathed in buckskin a crude knife of horn hung from his belt.

"My food largely consisted of fish, deer meat, bear meat, spruce partridges and berries," said Knowles. I found blueberries in the burnt lands. I am feeling in fine condition. I do not believe every man can do what I have done, but I feel confident that a man with good health, a knowledge of the woods and resourcefulness can accomplish the same thing. I believe any one of the game wardens could do it. I have satisfied a curiosity.

"The hardest thing of all was the awful lonesomeness, because of which I came near coming out twice. The isolation almost drove me crazy. Several times I have heard voices afar off and that made it only the harder.

"The eating question is nothing; neither is the dress. I have not suffered any to speak of from the cold. It was that awful lonesomeness.

"For the last ten days I did little. Up to that time I constantly aspired to accomplish something, but my ambition left me. During the last ten days I believe I gained ten pounds because of this.

"On my trip up to Canada I simply used the moss on the north side of the trees to guide me. I started on this march to Canada the day after I waved the torch on the shore of King and Bartlett lake. When I got out I was not sure whether it was Saturday or Sunday. It was a pretty rough country, but my trip was largely down hill all the way.

"I came through the deepest forest because I did not dare to strike the roads, for fear of being seen before time. Then from up in the mountains I heard a wonderful thing. I heard the whistle of a train. I pressed toward it and finally came on the railroad tracks."

When questioned about salt, he said he missed it very much for the first few weeks, but after that he never thought about it. When asked what he would have to eat he ordered fried salt pork and potatoes.

VREELAND WANTS STRONGER FLEET

Appears Before Naval Committee As Substitute For Dewey.

ISLANDS AT MERCY OF FOES

Rear Admiral Sees Mikado's Troops In the Philippines, Hawaii and Alaska, In the Event of War With Japan—Believes Uncle Sam Ultimately Would Win Because of Superior Financial Resources.

Washington, Jan. 29.—Rear Admiral C. E. Vreeland of the general board of the navy startled members of the house committee on naval affairs when he declared that in case of hostilities with Japan it would be comparatively easy for the far eastern power to take the Philippines and possibly land its troops in the territories of Hawaii and Alaska.

Vreeland, who is one of the strategists of the navy department, made it plain that in his opinion Japan would be able to make great progress in the early stages of a conflict with the United States, but that ultimately this country would win through its superior financial resources. Coming on the heels of the announcement that the administration is seriously concerned over the apparent friendliness of Japan to the Huerta government in Mexico, the testimony of Admiral Vreeland was received by house members with intense interest.

Vreeland appeared as a substitute before the committee for Admiral Dewey, who was unable to be present because of illness. He emphasized the necessity for a stronger fleet, declaring that the naval estimate in preparing strategic plans for the Pacific was proceeding on the theory that Japan, in the event of trouble, would occupy the Philippines and possibly land forces in Hawaii and Alaska. All preparations, he asserted, would have to be based on the theory that Japan would strike without notice. Japan, according to Admiral Vreeland, has vastly increased its appropriations for armament.

Rear Admiral Vreeland went into a general discussion of the condition of the navy. He said that if the United States halted its building program, the American navy would soon fall behind that of Japan in strength.

COXEY'S ARMY TO BE REVIVED

Cleveland, O., Jan. 29.—General Jacob Coxey of Massillon declared he will be in Washington May 1 with 500,000 unemployed men, a new "Coxey's army," to impress the government officials. "May 1 will be the twentieth anniversary of the old 'Coxey's Army' march to Washington," said the general. "My idea is that the government should establish a bank in each town of 1,000 people or more, which banks shall loan money direct to the people."

STEWART RECALLED BY GRAND JURY

New York, Jan. 29.—James C. Stewart is before the grand jury today and is being questioned again concerning the atetmpt to get $150,000 from him while his company's bids for barge canal work were before the canal board. Since his appearance two weeks ago, District Attorney William Whitman has received information that will materially assist him in questioning the contractor. Stewart is said to have gone to Charles F. Murphy after a man named Gaffney tried to get a campaign contribution from him.

When Charles F. Murphy, the Tammany leader, was asked to comment on Stewart's appearance before the grand jury and the likelihood that he would correct his previous testimony, he said: "I shall not discuss any phase of the graft investigations until I am put on the stand under oath." He added he had not yet been subpenaed.

VILLA SPURNS THE PRESIDENCY

Juarez, Mexico, Jan. 29.—General Villa in discussing the Mexican situation declared he would not accept the presidency if elected; that he is fighting for Carranza and for the principles Carranza represents, and that if Carranza is made president he will be satisfied.

One of General Villa's reasons for coming to Juarez at this time is to urge the Chihuahua bankers who are now in El Paso to return to Chihuahua and reopen their banks. Most of the banks closed when Villa took Chihuahua and the bankers came to El Paso. Villa is said to have threatened the bankers with confiscation of all their property unless they returned and reopened their banking houses.

Two trainloads of rebel troops left Chihuahua for Jiminez, where the Constitutionalists are concentrated for the attack on Torreon. General Maclovio Herrera is in command at Jiminez, while General Tribio Ortega is superintending the movement of troops from Chihuahua to the concentration point.

Forty-eight members of the Terrazas family, including the wife of the aged general, Luis Terrazas, Sr., now a refugee in El Paso, arrived in Juarez. Luis Terrazas, son of the multimillionaire, is still held a prisoner in Chihuahua by the rebels, where he is held for a ransom of 500,000 pesos.

RECEIVER NAMED FOR CENTRAL UNION

Local officials of the Central Union Telephone company were informed this week that the application made recently by certain minority stockholders for a receivership for the company in the Federal courts at Chicago had been granted and three receivers appointed. While the names of these men were not given out, one of them is a prominent Missourian, another a Chicago banker, and the third a New York City man.

What effect the receivership will have on the present system of management remains to be seen but local officers say it will probably mean a radical change in "system." Real work that might benefit the company they claim, is hampered by the multiplicity of orders and directions which are sent out from the district offices and since the receivers will undoubtedly try to cut down expenses, some of this will be elmiminated. —Chillicothe News.

VIEWS OF OTHERS

SERVING THE PEOPLE.

Having demonstrated that the parcel post can be operated successfully Postmaster General Burleson is figuring on increasing the service. With the beginning of the year he increased the limit of packages from twenty to fifty pounds, and now he proposes to raise the weight to 100 pounds.

The plan will enable producers to ship their products to market at a minimum cost for transportation charges instead of a maximum as was exacted by the express trust, when it held the country in its grasp.

Consumers can save money by patronizing the parcel post and buying direct from the producer, whether the article is grown on the farm or produced in a manufacturing plant. In a short time the producers will find that they can, by judicious advertising, reach the persons who will buy their products and eliminate the profits and tolls taken out by the middlemen.

As a rule, more than one "middleman" takes his percentage out of articles of daily consumption. The commission merchant deducts his commission for handling the product. Next the retailer and then the huckster come in for shares in the profit.

If advantage is taken of the parcel post all these added expenses, as well as the lowering in the cost of transportation, may be saved. The problem to be solved is the bringing of producer and consumer into direct contact, and this can be done thru the medium of advertising.—Woman's National Weekly.

LITTLE STORIES ABOUT OHIO

By Charles E. Chidester

CONNECTICUT ONCE OWNED OHIO

Ohio was once the property of Connecticut.

Before states began taking form west of the seaboard, Connecticut claimed strips of land her own width from her western boundry line to the Pacific coast.

In 1781, she ceded to the Union all of her charter rights to the strip with the exception of approximately 3,667,000 acres, extending 120 miles from the western boundry line of Pennsylvania, and bounded on the north by Lake Erie and on the south by the 41st degree, north latitude, which she reserved as a foundation for her school fund. From that act dated the existence of w... is now known as the great Western Reserve, the name of which is perpetuated in a great university at Cleveland, public and private institutions of various kinds in northeastern Ohio.

Five years after the cession of the strip by Connecticut the national congress accepted it, and 14 years later the president was authorized to deed to Connecticut, the land included in the Western Reserve, on condition that Connecticut relinquish all claim to jurisdiction. In 1803 when Ohio became a state, Connecticut's vague title vanquished entirely.

One of the most interesting sections of the Western Reserve was a tract of 500,000 acres comprising the present counties of Erie, Huron and Otawa, known as the "fire lands," so called because given by Connecticut to sufferers from fire during the invasion of the mother state during the war of the Revolution.

The first lands in the Western Reserve offered for sale by the general government sold at $2 an acre. Now this same land is thickly sprinkled with cities, among which is Cleveland towns, vilages and the homes of wealthy farmers. The tract had not been long opened to settlers when the price of land rose to $5 an acre. Money was so scarce that great economy was necessary to raise sufficient to pay taxes. All purchases were made with produce. Material for shirts now purchased made up by Western Reserve farmers for 50 cents, sold at 62 cents a yard. Sugar retailed at 30 cents a pound.

LEE IS SEATED

Washington, Jan. 29.—The Republicans lost one vote and the Democrats gained one when the senate, by a vote of 53 to 13, adopted a resolution seating Blair Lee, Democrat, as senator from Maryland, to succeed William P. Jackson, Republican. Mr. Lee was immediately sworn in. The 13 senators who voted against seating Mr. Lee were all Republicans. More than half of the Republicans voted in favor of seating him. Most of the progressive Republicans voted for him and some of the conservaties, like McCumber and Warren.

TAMMANY CHIEF MAY BE DEPOSED

New York, Jan. 29.—The National Democratic club, of which Charles F. Murphy and many other Tammany Democrats are members, is openly working to remove Mr. Murphy from the leadership of Tammany Hall, to wrest from him the control of the state committee and to secure amendments to the new primary law which will give free expression to party wishes and prevent machine control. The primary amendments are to be discussed at the clubhouse tonight by a committee appointed Dec. 13 last by the president, Judge Edward Lawyer. On that committee of 25 men are Senator James A. O'Gorman, William B. Ellison, Martin W. Littleton, Herman Ridder, James J. Martin, National Chairman William F. Mc-Combs and others who are believed to feel that Murphy should be deposed. This group is distinct from the Independents headed by Collector Dudley Field Malone and a committee of 250. It is working only through the National Democratic club.

TWO BIG BILLS PUT THROUGH

House Favors School Supervision, Senate the Coal Act.

NO MATERIAL CHANGES MADE

Six Senators Recorded Against the Anti-Screen Measure, While the School Proposition Passes by a Decisive Vote—County Salary Bill and Hog Cholera Resolution Also Get By—Legislative News.

Columbus, O., Jan. 29.—Favorable action was had on two important administration measures. The Green anti-screen bill passed the senate and the rural school supervision bill passed the house. Neither suffered any material changes through amendment.

Only six senators cast their votes against the measure providing for the weighing of coal before it has passed over the screens.

Senators Jung and Broadstone were the only ones to speak against passage. Both declared the act to be an abridgment of the right to make contracts in that it to k away from the operator and the miner the right to contract as to the basis of payment for mining.

Senator Green likened the opposition of operators to the measure to that of many bankers against the new federal currency measure. Their opposition will melt away, he said, after the bill becomes a law.

In charge of Representative Oliver J. Thatcher of Clinton, Republican member of the state school survey commission, the Lowry rural school supervision bill, chief item in the administration school program, ran the gauntlet of the house in five hours' time. It was passed by 88 to 27, six Democrats and 21 Republicans being recorded against it.

Mr. Anderson of Greene, who had championed the farmers' demand for a live stock exhibit at the San Francisco exposition, led the opposition. The crucial amendment he offered to cut out provision for a county superintendent, was lost by 31 to 80. That provision was attacked as meaning a double-headed supervision, that of the county superintendent and that of district superintendents.

Amendments Adopted.

Amendments were adopted by McGuffey of Hardin, that any superintendent who acts as agent for a book company or educational publication or is interested in a school outside state control shall be discharged; by Mr. Hite of Perry, requiring four-fifth vote of a county board to change the boundaries of a district; by Mr. Cowan of Putnam, making the maximum of teachers in a district 70 instead of 60; by Mr. Barthelmeh of Tuscarawas, for continuation as a separate district for supervision purposes of a union of village or rural districts if they employ a superintendent giving half his time instead of two-thirds time, to supervision.

The bill makes county districts outside cities and villages of over 3,000 population, while township and special districts continue as rural districts. Rural district boards of five members are elected for four years, county boards of five members for five years are elected by the presidents of the village and rural boards. The county board establishes supervision districts, to be under superintendents to be elected by the presidents of the village and rural boards for three years, minimum salary $1,000, half to be paid by the state up to $750. The county board appoints the county superintendent for three years, minimum salary $1,200, half to be paid by the state up to $1,000.

Reported For Passage.

The Morris teachers' certificate bill and the Ruhlman weak district bill were reported to the house calendar for passage. A bill to create county uniformity in schoolbooks, by having the presidents of village and rural boards act as a textbook commission, but forbidding change of books oftener than once in five years, was introduced by Representative Woodworth of Athens.

Amended to make uniform in all counties the county portion of salaries, the Duffey common pleas judge salary bill was passed by the house. The bill makes the maximum salary $6,000, of which the state pays $3,000. The counties pay $25 for each 1,000 of population. Judges assigned to courts outside their residence county get $10 a day in addition.

The Cunningham resolution, asking congressional aid to fight hog cholera, and the Carroll resolution, asking congress to pass the Hamill bill to retire aged letter carriers and postal clerks, were adopted by the house.

Governor Cox will send a special message, asking reduction in automobile fees and that they be based on horsepower. Mr. Warnes of Holmes will put in the bill, changing the schedule, which is $6 to $18, to $5 to $10.

Within the next year or two Mr. Karney expects to make some radical changes along Forest street.

ASKS $25,000,000 FOR BETTER ROADS

Secretary of Agriculture Would Apportion the Funds.

Washington.—Chairman Moon of the house committee on postoffices and post roads asked the rules committee to bring in a special rule incorporating an item of $25,000,000 for roads in the annual appropriation bill. Mr. Moon proposed this new "pork barrel" as a sop to some members of the house who have decided to fight the postoffice bill rider which would take 2,400 assistant postmasters out of the civil service.

A subcommittee was appointed by the rules committee to decide what action should be taken on this new scheme to appropriate money. If the rules committee brings the rule in the section cannot be ousted on a point of order, as it would be if not protected by a special rule.

CONGRESSMAN MOON.

The Moon bill provides that $25,000,000 shall be taken from the treasury annually and placed at the disposal of the secretary of agriculture, who shall apportion it among the states according to population and miles of rural post roads. The bill was prepared by Representative Dorsey W. Shackleford of Missouri, chairman of the new committee on good roads.

GEOGRAPHY UP TO DATE.

Map of the World Shows Where They Don't Tango.

Paris.—An enterprising publisher has issued a map of the world which plainly indicates where the tango is danced and where it is prohibited by the clergy, where it is debarred by royalty and where it is frowned upon by officialdom.

Austria is apparently the heaven of the tango, as are also the states of Texas and Wyoming. Paris, on the other hand, according to the chart, is the deadly enemy of the tango.

If this is so it is difficult to notice it.

BUGGY IN USE NINETY YEARS.

Body of Sturdy Old Vehicle of Oak and Wheels of Hickory.

Lancaster, Kan.—W. M. Morgan of this village is the possessor of a buggy, or light wagon, which is ninety years old. It was brought to Kansas from Vermont by M. J. Cloyes of Atchison when a young man. Mr. Cloyes is now eighty-seven years of age and bought the buggy secondhand when he commenced farming in the New England states. When Mr. Cloyes quit farming in this community a number of years ago he sold the buggy to Morgan at public auction.

The present owner uses the buggy frequently, as it is still in good condition, although considerably antiquated in style. A peculiar feature of the rig is that the springs are fastened lengthwise to either side of the body. Nearly all of those manufactured today have the springs across the ends. The wood used in the body of the vehicle is oak, while the wheels are made of hickory. The material used in the construction of the vehicle is still in a splendid state of preservation, and Mr. Morgan is confident that it will last ten years longer.

"FRESH" EGG IS 5 YEARS OLD

Identified by Woman Who Wrote Her Name on It.

Bellefontaine, O.—Mrs. John Wright of Bellefontaine has proof that an egg sometimes remains in cold storage nearly five years.

At least six months before she was married she was working in a store at Lakeview, Logan county, O. She wrote her name and address on an egg that was placed in a crate. Four years ago July 3, she was married to John Wright. Recently she received a letter from New York, addressed to her by her maiden name.

It came from John J. Sweeney, 17 East Ninety-fourth street, New York, who said he had just bought the egg. Mrs. Wright has written Mr. Sweeney saying it is now at least five years since she wrote her name on the egg which, he says, he bought as "strictly fresh."

There are nearly 2,000 Mohammedans resident in London itself, the majority, of course, being natives of India, who are merchants or law students, though some are Britons, and it is intended to erect a new and splendid mosque, modeled on that of Delhi, which will cost not less than $500,000.

Pictorial trademarks for cotton piece goods intended for sale among the Hindus of India usually have for their subjects incidents in Hindu mythology, romantic drama, temple deities, nautch girls and European actresses. Mohammedan people like pictures showing Mohammedan soldiers vanquishing their Christian enemies.

Gambling In Advertising

CONSIDER the merchant who inserts an advertisement once or twice—or maybe for a week—and then stops to see if it has paid.

Is he not, in spirit, a gambler?

Consider also his brother merchant—the man who never runs an advertisement until he has first consulted the weather column and the market page and the clouds of the sky to make sure conditions are right—and whose best laid plans are cast to nothingness by a gust of snow or a shower of rain.

Is not he, too, a gambler?

And the merchant who experiments in divers novelties and souvenirs—and falls victim to every new fledged scheme that masks behind the name of publicity.

Is not he, likewise, a gambler?

To such men advertising is like a game of roulette.

They stake their money and watch the wheel spin round. If it stops on the red they win; if it stops on the black they lose

There is nothing of faith in the whole transaction—purely a matter of blind, unreasoning luck.

They are the playthings of fate; and their god is the god of chance.

BUT the merchant who advertises persistently in a medium of known worth worships at a different altar

To him, advertising is a certainty

The Washington merchant, for example, whose advertisement appear practically each evening in the Washington Daily Herald day after day, in season and out—whose announcements represent, not one or two or three, but nearly every department of his store—is a mighty hard man to convince that advertising is a gamble.

To him advertising is a never-tailing force in marketing his merchandise. It is infinitely more than that. It is a lease on the good will and patronage of the public—a guarantee of the perpetuity of his business.

Seasons come and seasons go—some of them not as favorable to his products as others. This he knows—and admits—and expects. But whatever the season or weather or direction of the wind, his advertisement appears just the same. He takes every vestige of chance out of the equation. Rain or shine, storm or calm—whatever business there is he gets.

To such a merchant advertising is a form of insurance—a protection vastly more essential to the growth and stability of his business than the printed policy he holds covering his fixtures and the physical value of his merchandise.
